

Hearnes Allows Increases

The Governor Boosts Budget Proposals

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has increased his recommendations for operating state agencies by about $1 million and to build capital improvements by $6.9 million.

His action came Thursday after listening to appeals of the agencies from his original figures of $531 million for operations and $21 million for capital improvements — all from general revenue (tax) money.

Additional federal and other funds are expected to raise the total to a record $1.2 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1. Last year's total was $1,142,000,000.

The House Appropriations Committee opens hearings on the budget next week and Rep. E. J. Cantrell, D - Overland, chairman, said his goal is to get the bills to the Senate by Feb. 1. The 60-day special legislative session opens Jan. 12.

The governor said his $1 million increase in operating expenses included about $400,000 for the new Department of Community Affairs, about $262,000 for the Department of Agriculture, $41,450 for the Department of Corrections and only minor changes elsewhere.

The $6.9 million increase in capital improvements included $3,864,000 to build the first of five proposed juvenile treatment centers at Fulton State Hospital — a project reported ready for bids.

The governor also restored $763,000 to begin a new sports complex at Lincoln University, including a new stadium, a new track, intramural fields and tennis courts. It did not include a requested field house.

Also approved was $68,000 for Lincoln U. to buy additional land but the governor said this is not yet a firm figure.

For the University of Missouri, the governor approved an additional $1.6 million to build a computer and mathematics center at the Rolla campus, $1 million for years and replacements and $1 million for campus development at the St. Louis campus, plus $2.4 million for a new arts and science building there, $750,000 for laboratory facilities at Columbia and Kansas City, $1.9 million for a school of education at the Kansas City campus.

At Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, the governor granted a total of $1,450,000. That includes $600,000 each to renovate Morris and Humphrey halls and $250,000 for repairs and replacements.

Another $350,000 was allowed to plan a new maximum security prison near Jefferson City.

Northwest State College at Maryville got $600,000 for a women's gymnasium, Southwest State at Springfield got $35,000 to plan an industrial education building and Southeast State at Cape Girardeau got $25,000 to plan a new administration building.

The governor said the operating budget is still tentative and could be changed up to the last minute before the special session opens.

Inspections Will Begin

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri's new meat inspection program will start next Monday at three central Missouri packing plants.

Dr. Harlan D. Ellis, in charge of meat inspection for the State Department of Agriculture under a 1967 law, said full time inspection will be started at the McGee Packing Co. and Baker Packing Co. of Mexico and the Moberly Packing Co.

All three plants were inspected previously by local health departments. Ellis said other plants will be added weekly until the program is in full operation.

No Parking Rule On Ohio Saturday Until Parade Ends

The annual Chamber of Commerce Christmas parade will be held Saturday morning, and, according to Chief of Police William E. Miller, parking on Ohio Street will be prohibited until after the parade is held.

The no-parking order applies to all of Ohio from Main to Broadway, Miller said.

The parade is set to begin at 10 a.m. and will travel north on Ohio from Seventh, then to Osage, and south on Osage. The parade was originally scheduled for Dec. 2, but was postponed due to weather conditions.

Mail Rush Is On

Holiday Season Means Work Time for Many

By PATRICK CLARK

Christmas time may be a joyous time of the year but it also means work, work, work, to the thousands of people in business. But the Christmas season affects none as much as it does the Post Office Department and the department stores.

The Sedalia Post Office which normally handles about 125,000 pieces of mail per day, has to do battle with approximately a quarter of a million pieces of mail per day as a result of the Christmas season. To combat this flood of mail, the custom use to be to hire many extra employees for just the Christmas season. But, not so anymore according to Postmaster Maurice Hogan.

"Hiring extra men is not a big factor anymore," Hogan said, "today we take advantage of the experience of our regular employees by working to a maximum of three and a half hours overtime per day. By doing this we have a higher efficiency of work due to the experience they have."

The Post Office does employ about ten extra people though according to Hogan, to prepare for the real impact which comes Monday and continues until Dec. 20, during which time the department handles twice as much mail per day as it usually does. In the ten day period the Post Office expects to handle roughly two or three million pieces of mail.

Because the Sedalia Post Office is the sectional center for mail going to Benton, Pettis and Saline Counties, the department handles considerably more than a regular city post office.

Because of the Christmas deluge the department will not leave notices at homes where there is no one to receive a package. After three attempts are made to deliver the mail, a notice will be left until the designated recipient can pick the mail up at the central post office the following day.

As in other years the post office is also making use of the National Guard facility at Ninth and Ohio, plus five of the Guard's trucks. All parcels go to the guard armory from where they are delivered in guard trucks. All the work at the armory is done by post office employees.

To handle the Christmas crush most of the area department stores also hire temporary help to take care of the shoppers.

For example Flowers department store has between 30 and 35 employees who work from early November to around the middle of January to handle the Christmas sales. Most of those employed are full time, and some have worked at previous Christmases, according to James Callis, store manager.

All About Olin

What's To Be Made In New Sedalia Plant

What's the new industrial plant west of Sedalia going to produce is a question many citizens have been asked as they notice progress of construction.

Charles M. Fredrickson, local plant manager for Olin Conductors, told Kiwanians all about it at the club's meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

The plant is being erected on a 60-acre site on Route 50 and will occupy 200,000 square feet of space. Details concerning the construction phase were explained by James McLaren, project engineer who said the Sedalia plant would be the most up-to-date one of its kind and size in the world.

Fredrickson explained that Olin Conductors is one of the group in the Olin Aluminum division of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, a worldwide company. The operation has a highly diversified product line for virtually every electrical transmission and distribution application, including Comprotest Conductors and concentric round wire all-aluminum, aluminum alloy and steel reinforced aluminum conductors, bare or insulated. Utilities find the major items they need at Olin for underground and aerial conductor systems. The operations also produce industrial aluminum wire for applications ranging from refrigerator shelving to automobile radiator grills.

The new plant is expected to be completed in October 1968 or before and will employ from 140 to 150 machine operators, supervisory personnel and office staff.

The speakers were introduced by the Rev. Medford Speaker in the absence of Robert Gardner, program chairman.

Invocation was by Louis R. Hughes, Jr. Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with Mrs. Lillian Maynard accompanist. Birthday greetings were extended to Herbert Taylor, Judge Leo J. Harned, Major Howard Froberg and Cecil Owen.

Ten members volunteered to assist in the Salvation Army's bell ringing project Thursday, Dec. 14.

President James Giokaris welcomed back Clarence Evans after an extended absence.

Over 60 reservations were made for the Ladies Night Christmas party at Holiday Inn Thursday night, Dec. 14.

Albert E. Leake, Kansas City, was a guest of John St. Clair.

Enemy Battalion Cut Up in Battle

SAIGON (AP) — American air cavalrymen riding helicopter gunships today pursued a battered Communist battalion that left a fourth of its fighters dead on the sparse coastal dunes of Binh Dinh Province.

American officers said the battalion of 600 North Vietnamese regulars had lost 159 dead at the last count, which did not cover spirited fighting in the last 24 hours. Korean troops just to the south reported killing another 61 Reds.

The North Vietnamese were being pursued along the coast by about 300 men from the 1st Air Cavalry Division. Another two companies with an equal number of South Vietnamese troops were blocking to prevent the Communists from trying to push inland toward better cover.

It was the heaviest fighting in Binh Dinh in three months. The U.S. Command also reported action on other old battlefields—renewed shelling at Con Thien, a night-long guerrilla attack in the Mekong Delta and another Red attack—which cost the Communists 45 dead—at the district town of Bo Duc, near the Cambodian border where much recent fighting has flared.

Binh Dinh, however, was the most important spot for Allied commanders, particularly because it had been quiet for so long and the Red force there—the veteran 22nd Regiment of the 3rd North Vietnamese Division—had shown little recent willingness to do battle.

The action started Wednesday when a helicopter patrol spotted the Reds, and two Air Cavalry companies landed in battle order flushed them out. By Thursday night the North Vietnamese had been pushed from the concealed bunkers and fortifications that made up their hidden base, but the running battle continued.

Air Strikes raked the enemy during the day Thursday and Friday, and flareships stuck overhead in the hours of darkness.

As night fell Friday, American officers said the cavalrymen were still in pursuit. Others policed the battlefield, and U.S. officers said the enemy death toll would certainly rise.

U.S. spokesmen said no American casualty figures were revealed until the action was broken off.

The battle is close to main National Route 1 along the coast and in an area under undisputed Red control for years, until the big U.S. sweeps of the past 12 months.

No Break For Local Taxpayers

Both the Sedalia and Pettis County tax collectors said Friday there would be no extension of the tax payment deadline this year, despite the fact that the deadline falls on Dec. 31, which is a Sunday, and the fact that the offices will be closed on Monday.

County Tax Collector Raymond "Flackie" Wilder said the tax payment deadline was set by state statute and "I don't think we have the authority to extend the deadline. However, I'm going to check into the situation. We certainly won't be open on Sunday."

Wilder said that all tax payments mailed before midnight Dec. 31 would meet requirements, but all payments made in person must be brought in Saturday, Dec. 30. "We'll be here until they stop coming," Wilder said.

Mrs. Opa, Hugelmann, Sedalia collector, said that all mail postmarked before midnight on Dec. 31 would be accepted. She added, however, that the city collector's office would be closed after 1 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Hugelmann said she had consulted with Mayor Ralph Walker on the question of an extension of the deadline and that any extension had been ruled out.

Wilder said, "The people who are going to be delinquent in their payments will be delinquent whether the deadline is extended or not."

Both collectors reported that the percentage of tax payments was running a little ahead of last year.

The question of an extended deadline arose when it was learned that Warrensburg residents will receive a slight break because the deadline there has been set back to Tuesday, Jan. 2. The Johnson County Collector's office, however, has taken the same position as Wilder.

Property owners who have not received tax statements were reminded to contact the collectors' offices to learn the amount of payment required. It was also indicated that failure to receive a notice does not relieve the tax payer of his obligation to pay the tax before the announced deadline. Tax statements locally were sent out early in October.

Deny Bombing

BANGKOK (AP) — Thai officials today joined the Pentagon and the U.S. Embassy in denying reports from U.S. Air Force training center that American planes are now bombing Communist infiltration routes in northeast Thailand.

Officers at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida, despite the denials, said that American planes are hitting Red anti-aircraft weapons which were moved from Laos into Thailand and that some planes have been shot down in the process.

A senior Thai military officer said the reports were "hearsay" and could be "the work of tools of the other side."

"No Thai or American officer cooperating in suppression of Communists in Thai territory or Thai border areas would even disclose such details as appeared in this news report," the officer said. "We are at a total loss to understand why such news reports have to be spread."

Eglin is a major Air Force Tactical Command facility where air commandos are trained. Some 1,000 of them are now in Thailand instructing in counterinsurgency operations.

Glowing Eulogy

Spellman Is Buried Beneath High Altar

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, eulogized for his service "for God, for his country and his neighbor," has been buried beneath the high altar of St. Patrick's Cathedral with the full pomp and panoply of 19 centuries of the Roman Catholic Church.

President Johnson headed the list of notables from varied faiths and many nations who assembled Thursday to render final honor to the best-known American prelate five days after he died of a stroke at 78.

The Rev. Robert I. Gannon said in his eulogy the cardinal would be remembered "first and foremost as a faithful and devoted priest... he never tried to impress anyone—even the most exalted."

An impressive array of public figures including Johnson, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Jacob K. Javits and Mayor John V. Lindsay attended the services.

Also present was an imposing group of eminent churchmen and many U.N. officials, some wearing the costume of their native lands.

Outside thousands of mourners gathered on Fifth and Madison avenues and maintained a hushed solemnity in the chill and damp wind. Thousands more watched the service on television throughout the metropolitan area.

The service started with a procession of religious leaders of the many faiths clad variously in black and white cassocks, purple chasubles and academic gowns into the majestic neogothic cathedral.

Eighteen churchmen, led by the apostolic delegate to the United States, Archbishop Luigi Raimondi, and including six American cardinals, joined in celebrating the solemn requiem Mass for the cardinal who had served as archbishop of New York since 1939.

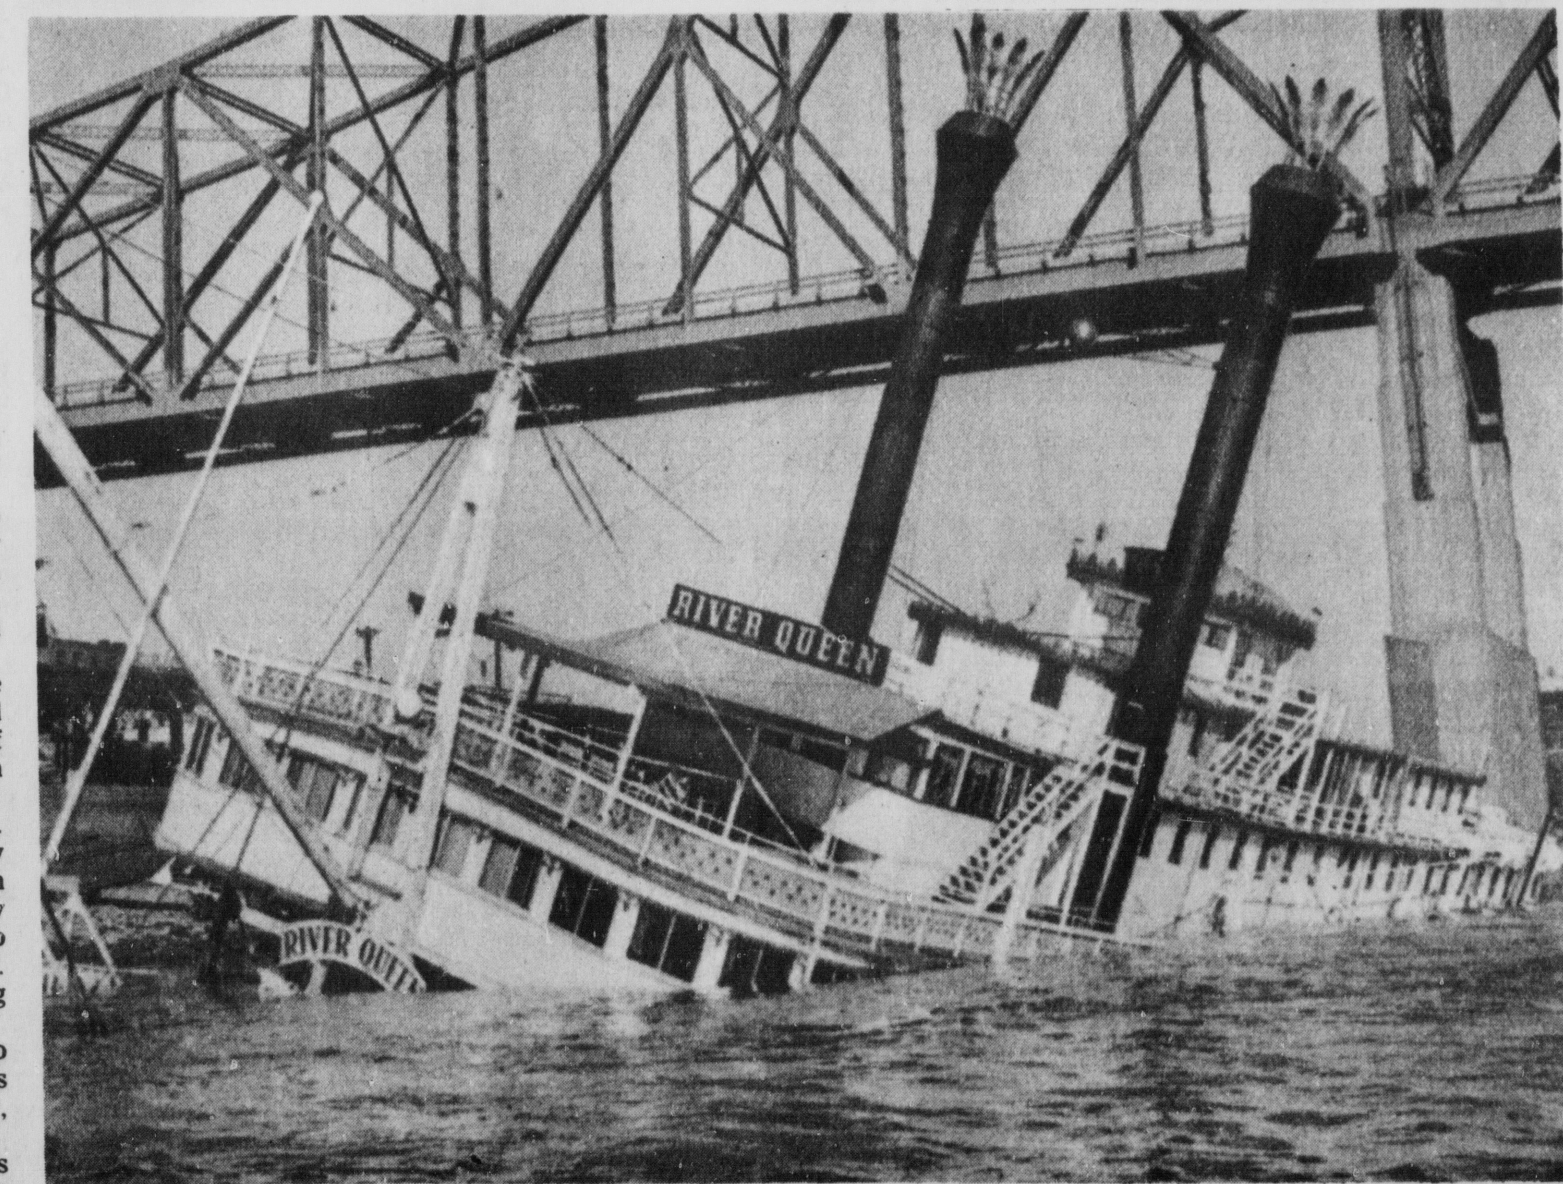

The service, the first requiem Mass for a cardinal to be conducted entirely in English, concluded with a solemn procession down into the white Italian marble archbishop's crypt where six of his predecessors rest.

Water Laws As Adequate In Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Land Improvement Contractors Association decided Thursday present laws are adequate to protect maximum water conservation in Missouri.

The association said in a resolution further "rules and regulations imposing restrictions would be detrimental to the majority of the people of Missouri" and would slow down modern soil and water practices.

The contractors also urged the University of Missouri College of Agriculture to conduct research to determine the value of land terracing to the individual farmer.

Waiting For Salvage

Nearly a week after the River Queen, a floating restaurant, sank in St. Louis, the famed sternwheeler remained submerged Friday in the Mississippi River. The 44-year-old Mississippi riverboat, which appeared in the movie

"Gone With the Wind," awaits a salvage barge and crew. The owners and salvage crew are still deciding on the best method of raising the boat.

Influenza Outbreak Reported

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The first outbreaks of influenza for the 1967-68 epidemiologic year were reported today by the National Communicable Disease Center.

The first reported outbreak affected approximately 3,000 of 18,500 students at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, Mich., between Oct. 23 and Nov. 10, the federal health agency reported. The peak incidence was reached during the week of Oct. 28.

The second outbreak occurred in the North Miami, Fla., public schools early in November. The peak incidence was on Nov. 8-9, the center reported.

At Western Michigan University, approximately 1,000 students sought medical care at the University Health Service and about 2,000 others were ill but did not seek medical assistance, the report said.

During the university outbreak, absenteeism also increased in Kalamazoo's public schools.

A similar illness was reported in Lansing, Mich., public schools. The peak incidence there occurred the week of Nov. 21, when absenteeism reached 12 to 20 per cent.

According to the agency, influenza has not reached epidemic proportions in the United States since the early summer of 1966.

Priest Is Rebuked By Bishop

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Long ago, when a quarrel over ranking authority erupted among Jesus' apostles, He told them:

"You know that the rules of the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great men exercise authority over them. It shall not be so among you; but whoever would be great among you must be your servant, and whoever would be first among you must be your slave, even as the Son of Man came not to be served but to serve."

Something akin to that issue was crackling this week in the wake of a bishops' sharp rebuke to one of the nation's top Roman Catholic theologians and Biblical scholars.

"It's really not much of a fracas," said the Rev. John L. McKenzie, the object of the bishop's censure. "What he says is completely untrue. I don't think he'll have anything more to say about it."

However, it was an extraordinarily barbed reproach, and the reverberations from it were sounding in letters to Catholic newspapers, most of the reaction so far defending Father McKenzie.

The initial criticism came from Archbishop Robert E. Lucey, of San Antonio, Tex., who accused Father McKenzie of presenting "openly heretical" views in his book, "Authority in the Church."

The book, published by Sheed and Ward, bears the imprimatur of Bishop Robert F. Joyce of Burlington, Vt., and has been widely acclaimed by Church scholars.

Citing a statement in it saying, "Authority in the Church belongs to the whole Church and not to particular officers," Archbishop Lucey said in a letter to his priests: "This is obviously heresy. The authority of the Pope is supreme. Bishops are empowered to teach, govern and sanctify by the mandate of Christ. That mandate was not given to the laity. McKenzie's statement is nonsense... confused... wrong."

Writes Father McKenzie in his book: "A false identification of authority in the Church with the Deity will go as far as anything conceivable can go to damage the prestige of authority; for men are not God, and they do not succeed well when they attempt to play God."

The topic was a major question at the Second Vatican Council, resulting in approval of a principle of "collegiality" asserting that bishops share with the Pope in authority and they also must listen to views of the people.

Considerable ferment has ensued since about means to implement this new balanced approach.

Father McKenzie, 57, a white-haired, philosophical Jesuit, commented in a telephone interview that the archbishop "may not have meant for his letter to be an open letter. It doesn't happen this way very often."

The archbishop's 12-page letter, dated last Oct. 27, was mailed to priests in his archdiocese, commenting on a study paper on authority and obedience drawn up by the San Antonio priests' senate, and quoting extensively from Father McKenzie.

Father McKenzie, presently a professor of theology at the University of Notre Dame, only last month received the 1967 Cardinal Spellman Award of the Catholic Theological Society of America for outstanding work in the field.

God," Pastor and Mrs. Allan MacMullen will sing a duet for the special music.

The Women's Missionary Fellowship will hold their Christmas party at the church, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Each person is to bring a 50 cent exchange gift.

Prepare White House

While preparations for Lynda Johnson's wedding were going on inside, workmen on the outside of the White House were hard at work dressing up the trees for Christmas. The Johnsons are expected to spend the holidays in Washington this year. (UPI)

The Pastor's Comment

By Raymond Hall
First Baptist Church

Every person who has "ears to hear" will remember at least one unforgettable sermon. In 1940 a Tennessee preacher came to preach in a revival in our church in Tulsa, Okla. His ringing voice has faded into the noises of the decades, but "the memory lingers on," like the strains of a beautiful song.

In memory I hear the short, slim, black-haired preacher speaking for God. "God does not know one sinner but that He loves." He doesn't wait for you to look for Him. He seeks you out in your troubles, and helps you. "All day long I have stretched out my hands to a disobedient and rebellious people." Romans 10:21.

Disobedient and rebellious. These two words classify the hard hearted and the nonchalant people of our nation and our community. God gave Moses a 10-point program of obedience. These 10 are in effect today for every living man, woman and child.

Rebelling against any one of the commands, makes a person guilty. But God shows mercy to the thousands who love Him and keep his commandments.

"God does not know any sin but that He hates." "This is what you must do: let every man tell the truth, in dealing with his neighbor, let your decisions in court be true and for the common good, plot no evil in your hearts against one another, and never give yourselves to any perjury — for all these things I hate, says the Eternal."

Sin is so obnoxious to God that He judged death for any person who sins. But, wait a minute! He also arranged for the guilty person to be acquitted — completely forgiven. What if every sin you have ever done were put in a moving picture on a big screen? God sees your sins like that. But Jesus died to pay for your sins.

God does not know any distance too far for the blood of Christ to reach in atonement. I John 1:9. "If we confess our sins, God is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

No continent is too broad for God's forgiveness. The sea is not as deep as the forgiveness of our God. He will cast our sins behind his back, and remember them against us no more forever. As far as the east is from the west; so far has he removed our transgressions from us.

"God does not know any born-again follower who can't be forgiven when he backslides."

The prodigal son "went into a far country where he wasted his money in reckless living." "He spent everything he had. Then a severe famine spread over that country, and he was left without a thing. So he went to live with one of the citizens of that country, who sent him out to his farm to take care of the pigs. He wished he could fill himself with the bean pods the pigs ate, but no one gave him any. At last he came to his senses and said: 'All my father's hired workers have more than they can eat, and here I am, about to starve! I will get up and go to my father and say, "Father, I have sinned against God and against you. I am no longer fit to be called your son; treat me as one of your hired workers." So he got up and started back to his father.' Luke 15: 14-20.

When Jesus died, his blood was satisfactory to God for every sin, any sin. But sin causes death! Sin is missing the mark. Breaking the rules means sin. Breaking the law at a train-crossing means death (if a train hits you). When you light a match (or make a spark) in a combustible mixture, like gasoline or hydrogen, you break the law of fire and explosives. Injury and death result. When you intentionally kill a person, you deserve to die. Hating enough to murder is considered guilty of death. But if someone takes your place, you are free. And Jesus took your place. You are freed because of Him."

IN THE NEWS

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The just-installed "climatizing" system in the Georgia House chamber was working so well it put a chill on the House Appropriations Committee hearings.

Those present shivered through part of a morning session, then recessed until the air conditioning could be turned off and the heat turned on.

Although the General Assembly meets in the winter months, House and Senate chambers recently were air-conditioned.

THE LORD'S SUPPER

There is much controversy these days about meeting around the Lord's Table. The Apostle Paul make it very clear in 1st Corinthians 1:1 and 2 and 1st Corinthians 1:23 that all who call upon the name of the Lord may partake.

Jesus gave it to all of his followers, and has never taken it away from them. No man, or company of men can rightfully deny God's Children from taking part.

Close Communion is un-scriptural.

Medford Wickliffe (Sedalia)

Medford E. "Bud" Wickliffe, 58, 640 East 18th, died unexpectedly at the Bothwell Hospital about 4:45 p.m. Thursday after he was apparently stricken with a heart attack. He was Superintendent of the Gas Department of the Missouri Public Service Co. in Sedalia.

Medford E. Wickliffe was born at Warsaw, June 26, 1909, the son of George P. Wickliffe and the late Bessie Blanchard Wickliffe.

He received his education in the Warsaw schools, graduating from the Warsaw High School with the class of 1927.

Mr. Wickliffe had been employed by the Missouri Public Service Company for 34 years. He was a supervisor in the Gas Department of the company.

He was married at Sedalia, November 25, 1933, to Miss Mary Louise Arnold. They were the parents of two children.

One of a family of four children, Mr. Wickliffe was preceded in death by one sister, Mrs. Mildred Satterwhite.

Mr. Wickliffe was a member of the First Christian Church and the B.P.O.E., 125.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Wickliffe; one son, Gary Wickliffe, Lesterville; one daughter, Mrs. Henry Shelley, Jr., Independence; his father, George Wickliffe, Warsaw; one brother, Paul Wickliffe, Kansas City; one sister, Mrs. Frances See, Warrensburg.

Funeral services will be held at the Ewing Funeral Home at 2:00 p.m. Saturday. Dr. Harry Purviance, pastor of the First Christian Church, will officiate.

Burial will be in the Memorial Park Cemetery.

The body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Dr. C. E. Richardson, 78, Versailles, died at his home Friday morning.

He was born in Richards, May 3, 1889, the son of Housan and Mary Hoover Richardson, and he was married Jan. 15, 1919, to Lenora Mae Mann.

Dr. Richardson was a retired veterinarian, member of the Methodist church, and a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his wife of the home; one daughter, Betty Lou Egleton, Coral Gables, Fla.;

Christmas Gift Carries a Bag

JACKMAN, Maine (AP) — The 2,000 residents of this northern Maine community and its hospital got an early Christmas present Thursday—a doctor.

It is the first time in 18 months the town has had a doctor-in-residence. The arrival of Dr. Peter V. Morrison, formerly of Bismark, N.D., also means that the recently dedicated Marie Joseph Hospital can begin admitting patients.

Until Morrison arrived, residents used a hospital 50 miles away. They posted signs warning motorists to drive slowly because there was no doctor to treat them in case of accident.

Morrison, 36, is a native of England.

border three miles away to keep pressure on Allied positions since Nov. 28, a bivouac of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division was heavily assaulted early today. U.S. spokesmen said the Reds were hurled back with 45 killed, while the Americans had four killed and 14 wounded.

A handful of other smaller assaults and Red mortar barrages flickered around the district town between midnight and dawn. South Vietnamese forces suffered light casualties in these lesser attacks, and Red losses were unknown.

Fifty miles southwest of Saigon in the flooded Mekong Delta, about 200 guerrillas and probably more made an all-night effort to overrun the district town of Mo Cay.

The town, a sprawling market center of one-story shops and simple dwellings, lies along one of the major north-south canal routes in the delta, and its loss would be a major propaganda defeat.

The town's 100 local militiamen held on, largely because two South Vietnamese 105mm guns won a pointblank duel with a Red recoilless rifle team barely 400 yards away. A South Vietnamese officer said the defending gunners lowered their barrels for direct fire and blasted out more than 600 shells during the night.

people who have been hired for the Christmas season. Most started two weeks ago and will continue working until the Saturday before Christmas for the most part, according to assistant manager Jack Cook. Most of their employees are new but there are few who have worked Christmases in the past.

Manager Bill Turns at Tempo said that they have eight people working the Christmas Holiday period. Six are part time and two are full time employees. They started the last week in November and will work until about two days after Christmas to handle the leftover items from Christmas.

Although the Christmas season does open more jobs, it does not especially cut down the unemployment situation even for the three week pre-Christmas rush, according to Russell Carr, manager of the Missouri Employment Security Division, 215 East Fifth.

Carr said that there are approximately 120 to 125 people employed in Sedalia just for the Christmas rush, and perhaps a few more.

He said that most of those employed are college students, housewives, and retirees who have generally worked the Christmas seasons before. But, Carr added, the extra hiring during the Christmas season does not cut down on unemployment to any extent.

Minutes of Pettis County Circuit Court show that the parole of Richard L. Payne had been revoked on the recommendations of Howard Boswell, parole officer. Payne was again committed to the custody of the State Department of Corrections and is being held in the Pettis County jail "until further orders from" Circuit Court Judge Frank Hayes, the minutes said.

Payne was originally sentenced Sept. 25, 1966, on second degree burglary charges. His motion for parole was sustained that same day. According to the court's minutes, Boswell charged Payne had "committed crimes of burglary in the second degree, tampering and stealing."

It was on this basis, apparently, that Payne's parole was revoked.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — An insurance executive had the perfect excuse for avoiding an overtime parking citation Thursday—the meter arrived there after he did.

The anonymous driver parked his car in front of a business at 9:30 a.m. to make a quick trip to the store. At 9:32, a city employee erected a parking meter at the space. At 9:34, a meter maid began issuing a parking ticket.

The meter maid relented after the executive explained the predicament.

Surgery Patient Restless

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Five days after his historic heart transplant operation, Louis Washkansky has only one major complaint, his surgeon said today—the doctors won't let him get out of bed.

"He says he is aching from lying too still," said Dr. Christian Barnard. "He is keen to get out of bed. He is allowed to sit up but that is all so far."

Mrs. Washkansky visited her husband Thursday for the first time since the operation and found him strong, cheerful and "just too beautiful."

"I'm feeling fine," Washkansky told his fellow South Africans in a nationwide broadcast from his bedside.

Barnard said Washkansky is, in fact, somewhat tired.

"I think the nursing has been a bit too intensive for him," the surgeon said. "Every two hours in the last five days he has been waked up to carry out checks. Today we are going to let him rest."

The 55-year-old wholesale grocer's physicians, encouraged by his excellent progress, allowed his wife to enter sterilized room 274 at Groote Schuur Hospital for a four-minute chat after one of the surgeons interviewed Washkansky for the South African national radio network.

"He is so much better than I expected," Mrs. Washkansky said. "He is so cheerful and bright. I was astonished by his strength."

Wearing a surgical gown and mask, she entered her husband's room with instructions not to kiss him. He reached out for her arm, she said, and told her: "Darling, I am so happy to see you."

"How are you feeling now, Mr. Washkansky?" Dr. Bertie Bosman asked in the radio interview.

"I'm feeling fine," the patient replied.

Q. You feeling well? A. Quite well.

Q. What would you like to eat tonight? A. Something light. Not starting with heavy things.

Q. How do you feel about being a famous man now? A. Told you, I'm not famous. It's the doctor that's famous, the man with the golden hands.

Washkansky's "man with the golden hands" is Dr. Christian Barnard, who headed the team of surgeons who on Sunday replaced Washkansky's badly fibrosed heart with the heart of a 25-year-old woman killed in an auto accident a few hours before. It was medical history's first recorded human heart transplant.

Although Washkansky has shown continuous improvement since the operation, he is now in the critical period during which the body's natural tendency to repel foreign objects may reject the transplanted heart. But on Barnard predicted this would not happen.

Washkansky is receiving co-balt treatments and drugs to lessen the chances of rejection of the heart. Late Thursday, a hospital spokesman reported Washkansky "is still improving all the time and his condition is quite satisfactory."

"He should be home for Christmas," said one surgeon.

Another heart transplant may be performed by the same surgical team in six weeks. Dr. Barnard said.

Retains Top NFO Office

LOUISVILLE, K.Y. (AP) — Oren Lee Staley, of Rea, Mo., has been elected to his 13th term as president of the National Farmers Organization.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey encouraged the 12,000 delegates Thursday night to seek more "bargaining power" in the sale of their products but warned them that attacks on the federal farm programs was not the way to do it.

The vice president praised the NFO for its concept of collective bargaining by farmers and criticized the "strong forces that are trying to undermine U. S. farm programs.

Last spring members of the NFO held milk and milk products off the market in a bid to raise prices for their products. The withholding action was successful in many areas.

Staley promises a withholding action in 1968 on all farm commodities although not all at the same time.

"Collective bargaining is no longer a theory" for farmers, Staley said Thursday and added that NFO farmers will "shut down the agricultural plant" until fair prices are reached.

The delegates adopted resolutions at their closing sessions calling for:

—A food reserve to be purchased by the government "at a cost of production plus a reasonable profit for farmers."

—A ban on publication of crop estimates by the U.S. Department of Agriculture until 15 days before harvest of the crops.

—Negotiations to keep the United States the largest farm commodity exporter.

—A cooperative effort by farmers to participate in feed grain and wheat programs to cut down crop surpluses.

—Opposition to any effort to weaken or outlaw the closed shop laws.

Christmas Begins In Sweet Springs

Christmas activities in Sweet Springs will open at 9 a.m. Saturday Dec. 16 at the Kansas City Power and Light Building with the display of an insect collection owned by the J. B. Boller, who was the "Old Store Keeper," on radio in St. Joseph. A transistor radio will be given as an attendance prize at the exhibit. Admission will be by token only and free tickets may be obtained from participating merchants in Sweet Springs.

To be eligible for the cash drawing Saturday, Dec. 23, all people must register for the drawing on the ticket and drop it in a box at the exhibit. Cash prizes of $20 and $10 will be given along with four cash prizes of $5. The drawing will be held following a free show at the Uptown Theatre Dec. 23.

Business places will also participate in a window decorating contest again this year. The prize is a silver trophy which Nichols Plumbing has won for the last three years.

Cash prizes for the best decorated houses will also be given this year. Prizes of $20, for first place, $15 for second, and $10 for third and $5 for fourth place. The judging will be done by out of town judges.

How Transplant Was Done

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Yasunori Koga carried the life from the dead baby across the room in his hands.

There the surgeons placed the tiny heart in the chest of another infant, after taking his hopelessly sick heart out. They sewed the new heart in, squeezed it until it began to beat normally, and the life surged through the infant's body.

He lived normally for 6½ hours after the operation. Then the life stopped, the heart stopped beating. There was no explanation why, the doctors said, they didn't know why.

That was Wednesday this week, when surgeons at Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn admitted failure in the second reported attempt in history to transplant a human heart.

Just three days earlier, doctors in Cape Town, South Africa, had completed the first such operation.

Louis Washkansky, a 55-year-old grocer, was alive in Cape Town, with the heart of a 25-year-old woman, who had been killed in a traffic accident, sending the life surging through his body.

Now that the first attempts have been made, it appears there will be others. The procedure is likely to be essentially the same as the Maimonides operation, described for The Associated Press by four members of the team in an interview Thursday.

Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, the chief surgeon in the operation, credited Dr. Norman Shumway of the Stanford Medical Center, Palo Alto, Calif., with developing the procedure. It was described by Dr. Koga, Dr. Jacques L. Sherman Jr., the hospital medical director, and Drs. Hans E. Carstensen and Eduard Sujansky.

On one side of the room, a 3-day-old boy with a healthy heart but a lethal brain lesion died. It was about 4 a.m., although the doctors don't recall the precise time. They had been waiting for his death, knowing, they said, that it was inevitable.

"Within minutes," Dr. Sherman said, "when the heart action stopped, his chest was opened. At the same time, another team of surgeons was opening the chest of the other infant."

The 2½-week-old baby who was to receive the new heart—his was damaged so badly he would have died in days or weeks at the most—was in deep hypothermia. He was literally encased in ice cubes to lower his body temperature from 37 degrees centigrade to 16-20 degrees. This slows the body's metabolism, lessening the need for oxygen and keeping the baby from dying during the time he is without a heart. Oxygen is pumped into his lungs by the anesthesiologist.

The infant was without a heart for about 35 minutes during the operation.

Doctors remove the healthy heart from the dead donor, place it in a small basin containing an ice cold saline solution—chilling it to about 4 degrees centigrade—so it too can avoid damage while it is without oxygen.

All the functioning parts of the damaged heart are removed; all that remains are a small part of the back wall of the upper chambers or atrium and the septum or membrane between them. This gives the surgeons a "bed" in which to place the new heart as they suture the atrium, the aorta or main artery and the pulmonary artery.

"When this is done," the surgeon explained, "the transplanting is complete. Then, the reheating starts. The heart is in place, but it's a cold heart although it has warmed up a bit during the procedure."

Also, at this point, the cardiologist begins to squeeze or massage the heart, trying to stimulate it into beating, working closely with the anesthesiologist, who pumps the lungs.

Liberal Wing

Some GOP Governors Hold Out for Rocky

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Party moderates among Republican governors meeting here are trying to stay flexible for the convention stalemate they think may produce Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York as their 1968 presidential nominee.

While they had advice that they may have to resign themselves to accepting Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 candidate, as their nominee, several of the professedly progressive GOP state executives attending a winter meeting of their association in this balmy resort city weren't showing signs of taking it.

Among these, Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania announced he is running as a favorite son candidate in an effort to keep his state's hefty delegation uncommitted to any presidential aspirant until near convention time.

Asked if he wasn't leading the moderates into the same blind alley they encountered in the abortive attempt of former Gov. William Scranton to deny the nomination to Barry Goldwater in 1964, Shafer exhibited assurance that the progressives can bide their time next year until the convention meets.

"I don't believe the primaries will have the same effect that they had in 1960 or in 1964," he said at an informal news conference. "I don't think we need to get behind a candidate now. I believe Rockefeller can be drafted when the times comes."

In the same vein, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland and Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, both publicly pushing Rockefeller, said in separate interviews that they think as many as 16 of the 26 Republican governors would welcome Rockefeller enthusiastically as the nominee.

However, McCall sounded a warning note in this chorus of acclaim.

He said that if Rockefeller persists in his position that he is not a candidate and does not want to be president, "We may have to reconcile ourselves emotionally and ideologically to Nixon." This seemed to represent the realization among the moderates that Nixon, the 1960 nominee, has strong grass roots delegate support that he might solidify in the primaries.

Shafer said that, if it comes to that, Pennsylvania could accept Nixon without qualms. For that matter, he said the state delegation would not reject Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Shafer gave clear evidence he is not going along with Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., in the latter's promotion of Gov. George Romney of Michigan as the 1968 nominee. Shafer seemed cool to Romney's candidacy. Although he said the Michigan governor could take all if he could demonstrate in the primaries that he was a winner.

Shafer put before the governors' policy committee, headed by Rockefeller, a proposal for holding hearings in various sections of the country to plumb grass roots opinion on what the 1968 platform should say about campaign issues.

National Chairman Ray Bliss told a news conference he assumes that a number of governors will serve on the platform committee. The state executives are grumbling about the preemption of the chairmanship of that group by Senate minority leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. But Bliss gave them no encouragement that one of their number might be named co-chairman.

Manpower Shift By US Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, which is tying up 49 ships to free key men for Vietnam war duty, will discharge more than 30,000 enlisted men a month or two early, sources report.

The move, which reportedly will save about $18 million, apparently is part of a Defense Department drive to cut spending where possible in a bid to avoid a big supplemental money request to Congress.

The new development came to light Thursday, shortly after the Navy acknowledged 6,200 experienced petty officers and other enlisted men, chiefly from Atlantic and Pacific fleet ships, will be used for war duty. The manpower cut will be made up within a year, it said.

As the Navy explained it, the 3,700 petty officers and 2,500 other enlisted men will be sent to "meet additional personnel requirements in Southeast Asia," to staff the battleship New Jersey—now being prepared for Vietnam war duty—and to man the new destroyer tender Puget Sound.

As a result, 49 ships will be either laid up, placed on skeleton crew "caretaker status" which will immobilize them, or be limited in their movements because of understrength crews.

The Navy claimed in an official statement that "the capability of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets to meet their current operation requirements in the Caribbean, Mediterranean and the Far East will not be adversely affected by this shift of personnel."

But there were indications the Navy was unhappy about the tying up of the vessels. Nothing was said about money savings but the immobilization of the ships is bound to reduce spending.

Navy sources said more ships than usual are docked in Atlantic fleet ports. This has been described officially as due to the Thanksgiving to New Year's holiday season. It also would result in millions of dollars in savings on fuel.

Of the ships affected, 38 are in the Atlantic fleet, which has responsibilities in the sensitive area around Communist Cuba and which provides vessels for the U.S. Sixth Fleet steaming in the Mediterranean near the volatile Middle East.

Ted Kennedy Is Critical Of Hershey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says it shouldn't be surprising that young people are willing to break the law when, according to the Massachusetts Democrat, draft director Lewis B. Hershey "indicates he will ignore the law."

Kennedy demanded Thursday that Hershey withdraw an Oct. 26 directive to local draft boards "sit as both judge and jury" to impose an unauthorized penalty.

"Only a tortured interpretation of the draft law could justify using inductions as a punishment," Kennedy told the Senate.

He said Hershey, director Selective Service, was quoted as saying he wouldn't withdraw the directive "even if the Department of Justice declared it unconstitutional. But he would withdraw it if ordered to do so by the President."

Hopeful On Grain Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Strategic grain reserves legislation, killed by a Republican - Democratic coalition of House Agriculture Committee members last month, is undergoing bipartisan resurrection.

Two similar versions for reserves to boost grain prices and provide for emergency needs were introduced Thursday by Reps. Graham Purcell, D-Tex., and Tom Kleppe, R-N.D.

Purcell, chairman of the House grains subcommittee, was chief sponsor of the measure that was killed. Kleppe was one of the Republicans who lined up with two Democrats to kill it.

The two new House bills brightened prospects for approval of a reserve grains bill next year. Similar measures already had received bipartisan support in the Senate among farm state members.

Opponents condemned the original Purcell bill as a "political gimmick for the farm vote in 1968 and claimed it would be a device by which the administration could dump grain to control prices.

"That other approach was strictly a marketing device," Kleppe said in an interview. "This is what my farmers were scared to death of, me included."

Purcell said his new bill erases all objections to the original but still would maintain reserves for foreign demands and protection against bad crop years or disaster.

"If we can get this bill enacted," Purcell added, "I expect an immediate price increase for farmers for their products."

Both the Purcell and Kleppe bills would reduce alleged threats of administration dumping by keeping grain reserves under farmer control through on-farm storage. Both would require that any resale of the reserve stocks be at 100 per cent of parity, which presently would be more than the market price.

Kleppe's version would set wheat reserves at 300 million bushels, corn at 500 million bushels, and soybeans at 75 million bushels.

Purcell's would set reserves at 350 million bushels of wheat, 25 million tons of feed grains and 35 million bushels of soybeans.

Convicted Of Kidnaping A Housewife

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) A federal court jury convicted Robert Freeman Jr., 22, Thursday night of kidnaping a 19-year-old housewife.

The jury, which deliberated 3½ hours, did not recommend the death penalty. Freeman will be sentenced later by Judge Arthur J. Stanley Jr.

Freeman was one of seven men indicted in the case. Four were convicted of kidnaping and are serving life sentences. Two were acquitted on the federal charge but still face state charges.

The woman was seized Nov. 19, 1966, in the parking lot of the St. Luke's Hospital in Kansas City, Mo., and was taken to two locations in Kansas City, Kan., where she was raped at least 15 times by a gang of men.

Freeman left Kansas City three days after the crime, and was arrested later in Cleveland, Ohio.

The woman, testifying in his trial, identified Freeman as one of the attackers. She said he drove the kidnaper car.

Fulbright Sees Viet Betrayal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Much of the world and an increasing number of U.S. citizens have "a feeling that America has betrayed its own past and its own promise" in its Vietnam actions, Sen. J. W. Fulbright said today.

"We are in this respect a disappointment to the world but, far more important than that, a disappointment to ourselves," he said.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and long a leading congressional voice of Vietnam dissent, commented in a sharp and often bitter attack on war policies.

His appraisal was prepared for Senate delivery.

In another Senate speech, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., a member of Fulbright's committee, argued that war critics must realize North Vietnam is encouraged by "every act of dissent in this country."

The critics, Dodd said, should not pretend "there is no danger in unrestrained public discussion."

Fulbright said the United States seeks in Vietnam to prove that wars of national liberation cannot succeed and to demonstrate America's willingness and ability to save beleaguered governments from Communist insurgents.

But all that is being demonstrated, he held, "is America's willingness and ability to use its B52s, its napalm and all the other ingenious weapons of counterinsurgency to turn a small country into a charnel house."

Those five nations now buy 163 million bushels worth $450 million.

"We can expect an increase of 15 to 20 per cent per year over the next five years," Schulte said. "In the next two years I expect an increase of about 50 million bushels—$150 million."

Check Gift Duplications

For years on end—and that goes back to the early days of Sedalia — local organizations and individuals have participated in providing annual Yuletide cheer for needy families; not liquid cheer, but something substantial in the manner of food, clothing and utilitarian gifts.

The mechanics of preparing baskets, boxes and determining who is to receive them has been a humble but arduous task for committees in charge.

Our own experience with these annual charitable projects occurred as an officer of the B.P.O.E. Elks lodge 25 years ago. We recall the discouraging experience of discovering that some needy families were overlooked while others were recipients of Christmas baskets from as many as four other sources.

Somehow despite efforts of organizations to check names of legitimate needy persons duplications persist and the gift-giving is thrown out of balance. Some members of organizations have occasionally tried to talk committees into sending baskets to personal family acquaintances who actually couldn't be classified as needy.

Then, too, intimations have been made that a color line was sometimes drawn on who were to be favored with a basket. If such incidents ever did occur the policy is certainly not in keeping with present times. Insofar as we know, it does not persist today.

In connection with gift giving, organizations and individuals may avail themselves of information from the Public Services Committee of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare. This agency has available names of families of Sedalia and Pettis county who are in reality needy and appreciative. Contact may be made by calling Mrs. W. C. Askew, TA 6-6477 between 8 and 12 noon, Monday through Friday.

To discourage the imbalance of gift-giving as it has persisted here year after year, potential donors may minimize duplications by consulting the Social Services Committee as a central clearing house for names of deserving needy families.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Interview With Mrs. Lyndon Johnson

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Thousands of words are being published this week about the first young lady in a half a century to become a White House bride. But what about the lady who guided her daughter toward maturity and matrimony? What were the problems of raising two daughters in the goldfish bowl of the Senate and the White House? And what are the problems of being the wife of the President?

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson was asked about these problems during an interview with Mrs. Anneliese Friedman of the German magazine Der Stern — an interview in which I participated.

"The girls were not just plummeted into public life," Mrs. Johnson explained. "It was a sort of gradual wading in. When Lynda was born my husband was in the House of Representatives, and when she was a very little girl he went to the Senate. He was in the Senate by the time Luci was one year old. So they have grown up in public life — in an increasing intensity. There is no doubt about it, it's been annoying sometimes.

"Lynda Bird has felt that boys might be hesitant to ask her for a date because she was the daughter of the President. And perhaps also there's something of the feeling that people might seem as though they like you more than they really do because of your place. I think, however, they're both natural, level-headed youngsters, although very, very different.

"The girls' education was divided between Texas and up here," Mrs. Johnson went on. "The last school years were at National Cathedral, which is quite demanding academically.

—A Big Family—

"When you consider my children's total environment, they have been subject to change. First we were in the Senate, then in the Vice Presidency, and they lived part of the year in Texas and part up here; so they had to get used to change and expect it.

"They were also exposed to a big family. The people who work with us have become very close to them. I can think of half a dozen people whom the children look upon as close and dear, almost as family. And they were also exposed to a lot of good conversation with real smart people. It gave the children an opportunity to listen to a lot of earnest, exploring, knowledgeable talk about the world.

"And that became a big factor in their lives. I think it has been a great opportunity. If you feel they have conducted themselves well and shown good judgment, then I am very happy that you think so."

At times, Mrs. Johnson said, she had to be firm with her children. "You have to tell them just very plain and strong and simple what you think is right and wrong.

"I remember when Luci was at a pretty tender age of about 14 she was out on a date and she wasn't in at what I thought was a proper hour. And I waited and waited. Finally the door opened and a rather frightened looking little Luci came in with her beau.

Democrat Pickups

The small boy went into a local market just before Thanksgiving and asked for some "turkey time", his mother had sent him to get.

The owner of the store tried to figure out what he wanted, everything related to turkey he could think of — bread for dressing, maybe? That wasn't it. Seasoning? No. He kept naming first one thing and then another, and finally he said to the little boy: "Do you see it anywhere?"

The youngster did and led him over to the drug department where he pointed it out.

What the mother wanted was turpentine. —H.L.

Political Decisions in War Beyond Scope of Military

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

As Robert McNamara prepares to leave the Pentagon, a great deal of misinformation is being spread about the attitudes of this country's senior military officers.

It is easy to picture men in uniform as smoke-snorting warmongers anxious to charge here and there.

Actually, the present top hierarchy in the Pentagon is heavily laced with very cautious men extremely leery about getting into any war and intensely worried about the United States becoming militarily involved too deeply in any overseas area.

Among Pentagon military men there are mixed feelings about the purely military worth of our sustained bombing of North Vietnam. Basically, the bombing was instituted for political-psychological reasons. That is, the purpose was psychological, to wear down Ho's will to carry on the war. It was a White House, not a military, decision.

The recent McNamara-Joint Chiefs of Staff arguments over bombing were less arguments for or against "all-out" bombing than arguments over whether this type of target or that was more important. Sometimes, in fact, the targets for which some military men argued would have "escalated" the war less than the targets which McNamara and the President chose.

In any event, in a war it is the duty of a military man to present what to him are militarily the most effective targets. It is not within his competence to decide on the political considerations. He bows, not in disagreement; rather, he bows because he is concerned with only a part of the problem.

Take an example in World War II. When Eisenhower's forces were advancing in Europe, he sent messages to Washington stating that militarily it would be wise for U.S. and West European forces to advance as quickly as possible to Berlin, but that there might be political reasons for holding our forces back (and allowing the Russians to move in first). He waited for the President's word. Roosevelt made his decision to hold the U.S. forces back for political reasons. The overruling of Eisenhower's military suggestion did not indicate he was more or less a hawk than Roosevelt.

Actually, in the Pentagon there was considerable feeling among some military men against going into the Vietnam war at all because they believed it would be inconclusive and ineffective. President Kennedy's political decision was that it would be effective.

The high-ranking Pentagon military men whose views this reporter knows are overwhelmingly against a war with Red China and against invading North Vietnam. They believe the war must be won in the south.

Most of these top military men known to this reporter now believe that while military action is necessary in South Vietnam to achieve the President's purpose, in the end the war will be won by the pacification projects which help to build democratic government, schools, medical stations and agriculture in the hamlets.

Glaucoma Treatment Should Begin Early

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

(Last of Two Related Articles.)

Q—In July, I had trouble with my vision. My doctor said I had glaucoma and advised me to come back in four months. He didn't prescribe any treatment. Could this trouble get better without any treatment?

A—If there is any doubt as to whether or not you have glaucoma, certain so-called provocative tests should be made. If these show that you have glaucoma, treatment should be started at once to prevent permanent damage to your retina.

Q—If a person has glaucoma must he have his eye taken out?

A—No. Every effort must be made to preserve as much vision in the affected eye as possible.

Q—I have had four attacks of pancreatitis, and am on a fat-poor diet. When I get an attack I have to go to the hospital. Is there anything I can take to prevent future attacks?

A—Most Attacks of pancreatitis begin with pain in the upper abdomen and vomiting. When the condition becomes chronic with recurring attacks, the attacks are usually less severe and in some persons can be controlled with a diet high in carbohydrates and protein and low in fat, plus pancreatic enzyme if there is a deficiency of pancreatic function. If this doesn't work, removal of 95 per cent of the gland may be necessary.

Q—What is the best treatment for neurasthenia?

A—Before treating neurasthenia, it is necessary to determine the cause. It may be caused by depression, worry, a recent bout of an infectious disease (hepatitis, influenza or pneumonia), a chronic low-grade infection, thyroid deficiency or other disturbances of the glands of internal secretion, hookworm manifestation, anemia or a nutritional deficiency, to name a few of the possibilities. No single course of treatment would fit all of these ills.

Republicans Look For Vote Issues

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We can do it better." This is the basic argument of Democrats and Republicans in any presidential election year, like 1968, but right now the Republicans are trying to figure out what it is they can do better.

They're under a handicap since they don't know what it's going to be like in 1968.

"Vice, Vandalism, and Vietnam" is one Republican's simplified answer for his party's campaign themes. It came from Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee.

It's too simplified since in politics one word leads to another and by the time the campaign is half over—and probably before it gets started—Republicans and Democrats will be off in all directions.

But the Republicans are busy trying to set up some starting points, at least.

Republican governors met at Palm Beach, Fla. today to begin some campaign planning session, with New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who insists he's not a presidential candidate to report on an in-depth study of possible issues.

Last month at Gettysburg, Pa., former President Dwight D. Eisenhower met with a 15-member Republican task force on national defense policy to discuss GOP campaign tactics for next year.

Would-be Republican presidential candidates, like former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Michigan's Gov. George Romney, have staffs busy charting strategy, getting ideas together, examining issues.

You don't have to be a mindreader to know the Republicans are going to try to get as much mileage as they can out of the discontent over the war in Vietnam.

But on this, which may be the biggest issue, they're under a bit of a handicap starting out. Their main point, of course, will be the one contained in the first paragraph above.

Some insight into this was given Thursday by the two Republican leaders in Congress, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford.

They argued a new Republican president would be in a better position than President Johnson to settle the war, with Ford adding that a new administration could deal with Vietnam "with less of the hindrances of the past."

But Dirksen spoke again of GOP support for the Johnson administration's stand in Vietnam. And right here is where the Republicans' handicap comes in. They are going to be limited in what they can say about the war.

Since they're for the war, they can't complain about that. They can only complain about the details, the way it's being handled.

And they won't even have that for much of an issue if between now and the time the 1968 campaign starts Johnson has been able to force the North Vietnamese into wanting peace.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Samuel Potter Harlan, Sedalia, has been appointed attorney-examiner of the Sedalia office of the Kansas City defense rental area, according to Marvin McAllister, regional director of war information. Harlan will attend a two-day school in Dallas.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The following attractive young ladies made up the chorus of "The Flapper Grandmother" presented under auspices of the American Legion in Smith-Cotton auditorium: Virginia McDaniel, Ruth Adel Zander, Jeanne Beausay, Dorothy Whittle, Betty Orr, Dorothy Stark, Ethel Johannes, Bernice Smith, Edna Slaton, Mary Frances Staley, Anna Rose Hammock, Elizabeth Rutter, Hortense Neighbors, Jodie Coen, Madolyn Murray, Violet Bennington, Mary Louise Weinrich, Marie Small, Violet Howe, Alice Arnold, Ruby Hieronymus, and Mirabel Heynen.

The cast of characters for the play included the following: J. Frost Waddell, Mrs. A. Buschman, Beulah Ferguson, J. P. Mooney, Marion Phipps, John Riley, Estine Norton, Dutch Kroenke, Neal Cain, L. L. Jones, Tom O'Gara and Gordon Weir.

The Equine Explosion

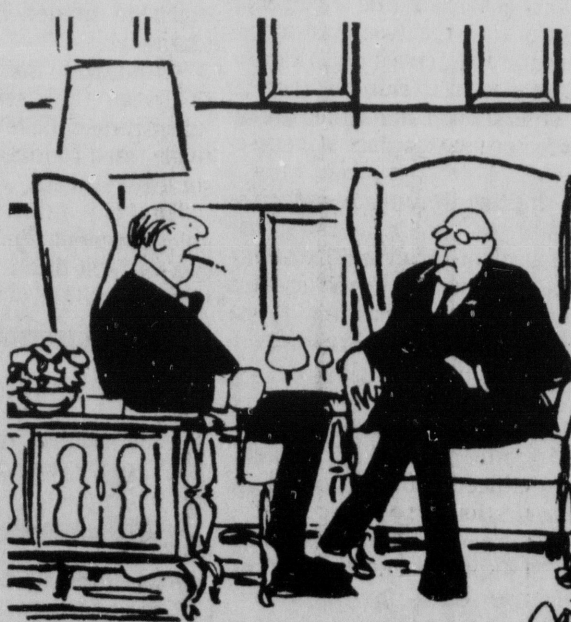

The cry of "Get a horse!" is once again heard in the land.

There are, says a noted equine expert, more pleasure horses in America today than there were at the turn of the century. The metropolitan state of New Jersey, for example, actually boasts more horses per square mile than Texas, most of them kept on "ranches" of less than half an acre.

The man who says so ought to know. Holding the government-created post of Extension Associate in Horse Management at Rutgers University, Frederick Harper is the country's only U.S. Department of Agriculture Extension Service specialist in horse management.

Horses have become the nation's leading pleasure industry, says Harper, both in terms of numbers of people and dollars involved. And that ain't hay.

Guideposts For Wages And Prices Are Gone

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Remember the wage-price guideposts that were supposed to keep business and labor playing within noninflationary bounds, seeking increases only as permitted by greater productivity?

As used originally by Presidents Kennedy and Johnson the guideposts were powerful weapons used more than once to roll back waves of price increases by steel and aluminum, among other industries.

Supposedly they were voluntary, but they really weren't. In violating them, a business or union risked being called unpatriotic; relations with a big customer, government, could be soured; government stockpiles of goods could be unloaded on the market to drop prices automatically.

Battered by such bludgeons, industries howled for days, and there was as much thrashing about as in a football game. But the guideposts prevailed.

What a contrast now. They are gone today. And nothing as original, or as effective, has been found to replace them.

President Johnson conceded as much this week when the administration's opposition was raised to no avail against steel price increases. "We have exercised such rights as we had," the President explained.

The rights he spoke of are those of persuasion, nothing more. And the steel industry, for its part, has exercised the right to ignore the pleas. For days now, steel prices have been percolating higher.

This week's episode also is a symbol of how out of order, how imbalanced and uncontrolled, is an economy that just a couple of years ago hummed like finely meshed machinery.

The culprit, of course, is inflation. For a while it merely bent the posts. Both business and labor, in the interests of national economic security, held back their price and wage demands.

Last year, however, a wage-price spiral was whipped up by the heat of an intensifying inflation that only less government spending or a tax increase could contain. The guideposts were trampled.

The explanations given by the violators was that the lack of government restraint in spending, and its own acceptance of agreements that exceeded the guideposts, put unbearable pressure on both business and labor.

For many months, and even up to recent months, the administration has hinted that some form of replacement for guideposts was being considered, even though it still refused to believe they couldn't be resurrected.

No effective substitute seems to have been found and inflation now is drawing a choke-string around the economy and time is running out.

Prices are rising, mortgages are almost prohibitively high, the value of the dollar is being challenged abroad, and an impasse has been reached in the search for solutions.

Until the administration cuts heavily into its planned expenditures, Congress declines to raise taxes.

The other option, if it can be called that, is to invoke controls on wages, prices, rents and credit. But this, too, demands cooperation from Congress and is politically unpopular.

Disney's World Is Expanding

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The death of Walt Disney a year ago brought shock to the world and caused concern for the future of his entertainment empire.

Today the Disney enterprises continue to function and grow within guidelines Walt laid down. His brother Roy, 74, remains as titular head of the empire, but much of the decision-making is accomplished by an executive committee consisting of those who worked closely with Walt in planning film entertainment, the Disneyland park, the coming Disney World in Florida, etc.

Most committee members are 30-year veterans of the Disney operation. Two represent a new generation: Ron Miller, 34, son-in-law of Walt, and Roy E. Disney, 36, son of Roy. Miller is a Disney director, and younger Roy has been nominated for a position on the board in February.

Ron Miller is oddly cast for the role of movie producer. He looks like a professional football player, which he is. He is a handsome 6 feet 5 with a muscular frame that varies between 230 pounds, where he would like to keep it, and 265, where it has been lately. He is a Los Angeles boy, his football prowess in high school having won him a football scholarship at University of Southern California.

His performance at end for that school and the Ft. Ord team during Army service brought offers to play pro ball for the Los Angeles Rams. By then he was married to Diane Disney, Walt's oldest daughter.

"I played for a year, and then Walt offered me a job," says Miller. "He thought it would be better for the family if I stopped traveling and stayed home for a change. He was able to get me into the Directors Guild, and I started in 1956 as an assistant director on 'Old Yeller'."

Miller continued as assistant director on the "Walt Disney Presents" television hours and the "Zorro" series, then became associate producer with his father-in-law on such films as "Bon Voyage," "Tiger Walk" and "Summer Magic." In 1960 he acted as pageant director for the Olympic games at Squaw Valley, an assignment he especially enjoyed—he and Diane are avid skiers. They now have six children.

Roy E. Disney has been hanging around the studio since he was a toddler, but oddly enough, he didn't intend to work there.

"I was going to be an aeronautical engineer," he says. "But when I nearly flunked calculus in college, I realized that wasn't for me. I switched to an English major."

Roy had worked in the studio publicity department during summer vacations, but he entered full-time entertainment "through the back door" in 1952. Jack Webb was then filming his "Dragnet" series on the Disney lot, and Roy got a job on the series as apprentice film editor. The assignment led to a position as assistant film editor, for Disney and he worked on the nature films "Living Desert" and "The Vanishing Prairie."

He spent a year and a half in the wilds of the Rocky Mountains filming scenes for "Peri," later went to Europe where he wrote a book about the film. After more work as assistant to Winston Hibler, producer of the nature films, Roy made a decision.

"I went into Walt's office and told him I ought to be making a film of my own," he recalls. "So he gave me the chance, and I found out how hard producing a picture can be."

His first was "The Otter and the Family," which he wrote and produced. Now he is making shows for the Sunday night television series. Roy is slight and plain-spoken, like his father and uncle. He is married and has four children.

As was true of Walt, both Miller and young Roy enjoy their work—"I figure I'm in the most exciting business in the world," says Roy. "I'm happier'n hell," says Roy.

Hermits Have Their Own Special Problems

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that hermits get tired of hearing:

"Why should you be allowed to roam the woods, laughing and scratching, while the rest of us have to work all year and pay income taxes?"

"His life might seem romantic to some people, but he just looks like another dirty old man to me."

"Do you mean to tell me that this little cabin you built doesn't even have indoor plumbing? Why you might as well be a savage."

"I'll bet if you ever sent that bushy beard of yours to the laundry, Silas, they'd find it was full of robin eggs."

"He must be an exhibitionist. Why would a man live all alone in the middle of a forest unless he was a born show-off?"

"Hey, Silas, my wife has locked me out of the house again. Mind if I move in and stay with you for a few days until she simmers down a bit?"

"What do you live on besides acorns?"

"Silas, the fat fellow who usually plays Santa Claus in our town Christmas parade is off on a bender. How about you filling in for him this year? All you have to do is wear a red suit and wash your beard. We won't make you take a whole bath."

"You mean to say you haven't seen a doctor or taken a pill for 35 years? Man, you must be really sick. No man could be that healthy unless he had something terrible wrong with him."

"I know you usually charge 25 cents to pose for souvenir snapshots, but all I got in change is a dime. Take it or leave it."

"The big kids say you eat children. You don't, do you, Mister? If you try to eat me, I'll throw a rock at you."

"You mean you drove us five miles out of the way down a muddy road just to talk to a hermit, Harry? What could a hermit possibly teach people like us?"

"Sheriff, as county nurse, I insist it's your duty to help me get Old Silas to a hospital. I know he came out to this wilderness to escape from society, but so many people come out to visit him that he's suffering from nervous prostration. He needs to be taken somewhere where he can be by himself."

"You mean you drove us five miles out of the way down a muddy road just to talk to a hermit, Harry? What could a hermit possibly teach people like us?"

For Alcoholics

New Rehabilitation Center Is Kept Busy

By DORIS TARYLE
The Fulton Sun-Gazette
For The Associated Press
FULTON, Mo. (AP)—The patients in a ward at the Fulton State Hospital laughed and joked as some wrote letters to home while others munched mid-afternoon snacks or played cards.

It was a diverse group of men, most of them in the hospital for the first time. The only thing they had in common was a disease known as alcoholism.

The ward is in the hospital's Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center, which formally began operation Oct. 10.

Dr. W. J. Creamer, director of the program, pointed out that Dr. W. J. Creamer, director of the program, pointed out that although a separate unit was established in October, the hospital has been treating alcoholics for 15 or 16 years.

At any given time, he said, there are about 30 male patients and five females at the hospital. Although the program is relatively new, the men in charge feel it is doing a major job in helping the estimated 150,000 alcoholics in Missouri to help themselves.

The women now are housed in another building, but plans call for their ward to be transferred to the same building as the men's so that the women will have a chance to enter into all phases of therapy. Dr. Creamer said the intake of women patients has tripled in the past three years.

About 90 per cent of the patients are admitted voluntarily—that is they sign themselves into the hospital.

The first process in the treatment of an alcoholic is called detoxification and is carried out in the general admission division. This process, when the patient gets over his "drunk" and tranquilizing begins, usually last about 48 to 72 hours. The patient then is transferred to the alcoholic ward where he usually remains about three weeks.

The three weeks is what Dr. Creamer calls a "hoped for" length of stay.

"Anything after that generally is wasted," he said.

The alcoholic ward has a variety of activities designed to help the patient understand and conquer his problems. It must be his own desire.

"Until a guy gets down and wants help, it is extremely difficult to do anything for him," Dr. Creamer said.

In addition to group and individual therapy sessions, there is "industrial therapy," which amounts to keeping the patient busy and useful by giving him a job. Some may go into occupational therapy, where patients make handicrafts. These generally are scheduled for the mornings.

After lunch they have a recreation hour and go into group sessions, watch a movie of alcoholism or hold ward government meetings. On Tuesday and Thursday evenings most of the patients attend Alcoholics Anonymous meetings, sponsored by AA chapters at Fulton and Jefferson City.

Wayne Lockhart, supervisor of the program, thinks education is an important means of combatting alcoholism. He thinks it is important to start on the grade school level. He said he felt that "more alcoholics come from social drinking than we give credit for."

"A number of alcoholics become alcoholics from social drinking and then their problems start," he said, "but we often blame the disease on other things."

The success of the program has been very high. Dr. Creamer reported.

"A few years ago, we gathered figures and found that roughly 45 per cent remained sober after two years," he said. "And that's about as good as any place in the United States."

Controls On Production Are Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — New plugs for government controls over production of meat animals and poultry products have bobbed up at a meeting of farm leaders at the Agriculture Department.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman summoned leaders of a dozen cattle, hog, poultry and general farm organizations Thursday to help in getting producers to limit production next year.

The secretary said if this were not done, producers could encounter a disastrous decline in prices.

Freeman said the current record feed grain crops available at low prices was tempting many livestock and poultry producers to expand production beyond present high levels.

But further expansion, the secretary said, would be sure to depress prices and cause heavy losses for many producers.

The farm leaders agreed with Freeman and promised to do what they could to discourage further production increases.

Representatives of the National Farmers Union, the National Grange, the Missouri Farmers Association and some of the poultry organizations said a government production control program was needed.

Four Men Landslide All-America Choices

Beban And O.J. Are Included

NEW YORK (AP) — A dream backfield come true?

The glass slipper appears to be a perfect fit for the quartet of Gary Beban, O. J. Simpson, Leroy Keyes and Larry Csonka, landslide choices on the 1967 All-America college football team announced Thursday by The Associated Press.

Not since 1946, when Army's touchdown twins, Felix "Doc" Blanchard and Glenn Davis, Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack and Georgia's Charley Trippi received virtually unqualified acclaim, have four college backs so completely overshadowed the pack.

Beban, the Heisman Trophy winning UCLA quarterback; Csonka, Syracuse's brute force fullback, and super halfbacks Simpson, of Southern California, and Keyes, of Purdue, simply did it all—and then some—this fall.

Beban passed and ran for 1,586 yards and 19 touchdowns. Simpson, the nation's runaway rushing king, ground out 1,415 yards and Csonka rambled for 1,127 while rewriting the Syracuse record book. Versatile Keyes ran for 986 yards, caught 45 passes for 758 yards and led the NCAA scoring parade with 114 points.

Together, the foursome accounted for 65 touchdowns and just under three miles in total offense yardage while leading their teams to an aggregate season record of 32-7-1.

After watching Simpson for the first time, one pro scout exclaimed:

"We'd take him right now. I'm glad I don't have to coach against him. He'd scare me to death."

That undoubtedly would apply to Beban, Csonka and Keyes as well. But the pros will have to settle for Beban and Csonka this time around. Simpson and Keyes are among five juniors on the 23-man All-America squad.

Two other standouts on Southern Cal's national championship club—offensive tackle Ron Yary and linebacker Adrian Young—landed first team berths. Notre Dame, only other school with more than one representative, placed 270-pound Kevin Hardy and tough little Tom Schoen on the defensive unit.

Alabama's Dennis Homan and Florida State's Ron Sellers are the offensive ends. Tackle Edgar Chandler of Georgia, guards Gary Cassels of Indiana and Rich Stotter of Houston, center Bob Johnson of Tennessee and Jerry DePoyster, Wyoming's record-breaking place kicker, complete the offensive array.

Hardy, who alternated between end and tackle for the Fighting Irish, and towering Ted Hendricks of Miami, Fla., man the flanks on the defensive line. Dennis Byrd of North Carolina State and Gre Pipes of Baylor are the tackles and Nebraska's Wayne Meylan gets the nod at middle guard for the second year in a row.

Although unable to displace the 239-pound Meylan at the middle guard spot, Oklahoma's Granville Liggins was not overlooked by the writers and broadcasters across the nation upon whose recommendations the All-America squad was selected. The 219-pound Sooner star earned a linebacker berth alongside the Trojans' Young and Bill Hobbs of Texas A&M.

With Schoen, Notre Dame's most valuable player, in the defensive secondary are Dick Anderson of Colorado and Frank Loria of Virginia Tech, the only other repeater.

Yary, a 245-pound bruiser who captured the Outland Trophy as the nation's outstanding interior lineman, moved up from the 1966 second team with Hardy, Byrd and Young.

Sellers, who caught 77 passes for a national high of 1,228 yards; Hendricks, 6-7, 222-pound ringleader of Miami's pass rush, and Hobbs, credited with 19 tackles per game, are the other juniors on the first team.

Beban, a 6-foot, 191-pound roll-out artist, wound up his varsity career in fifth place on the all-time total offense list with 5,197 yards.

Fairmont Goes For Grid Title

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Unbeaten Fairmont, W. Va., State goes after the small college football title Saturday when the Falcons face the unbeaten and potent-passing Eastern Washington State Savages.

The game at 1 p.m., EST, at West Virginia University's Mountaineer Field pits the survivors of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) playoffs. The Falcons won their way into the finals on the strength of their 10 regular season victories and a 21-7 triumph over Northern Michigan.

The Savages survived their 10-game regular season without a blemish and whipped New Mexico Highlands 28-14 in the semifinal playoff.

Parker Retires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Baltimore Colts will make their National Football League stretch run without longtime stalwart Jim Parker, who has announced his retirement because of a lingering knee ailment.

Parker, a devastating, 275-pound blocker who has been an NFL All-Star at both offensive tackle and guard during his 11 years with the Colts, bowed out Thursday in what Coach Don Shula hailed as "probably one of the most unselfish moves ever done in sports."

Parker's decision to retire, effective immediately, enables the unbeaten Colts to activate a healthy replacement for their final two regular season games. They lead Los Angeles by one game in the Coastal Division race.

San Diego Lost ace receiver Lance Alworth for at least two of its remaining three American Football League games and Buffalo announced that linebacker John Tracey, who has started 100 straight games for the Bills, would miss Saturday's clash with Boston. Each is nursing a pulled leg muscle.

The Chargers placed Alworth and defensive end Tom Day on injured waivers, leaving both ineligible to be reactivated for at least two games.

Rookie linebacker Willie Lanier of the Denver Broncos and rookie offensive tackle Paul Seiler of the New York Jets also went on AFL injured waivers.

Simpson, a 202-pound junior college transfer who ran on Southern Cal's world record 440-yard relay team, made a shambles of the ground-gaining race despite missing one game and part of another with an ankle injury.

Keyes, a converted defensive back, scored 19 touchdowns and flipped three scoring passes in spearheading the Boilermakers to a share of the Big Ten title and an 8-2 season mark.

Jim Brown, Ernie Davis, Jim Nance and Floyd Little preceded Csonka at Syracuse, but Coach Ben Schwartzwalder rates the 230-pound Ohioan "the most valuable player we have had in my 19 years here."

"Csonka has done more with less blocking than any of those other boys," says Schwartzwalder.

For Baltimore

13th Victory Is Anticipated

NEW YORK (AP) — Baltimore should run its unbeaten string through 13 games Sunday but the Colts probably will have to beat Los Angeles on the last day of the season, Dec. 17, to wrap up the Coastal Division title.

That's the way it looks from this corner with the Handpicker tabbing the Rams to beat Green Bay in the big Saturday afternoon television extravaganza over CBS.

Cleveland should clinch the Century Division crown Sunday by knocking off St. Louis, thus qualifying for a Dec. 24 date at Dallas for the championship of the Eastern Conference.

After an 8-2-1 week in Mexico, the season totals are 95-38-10 (NFL 62-26-8 and AFL 33-12-2). Let's try again. All games are Sunday unless otherwise noted.

Ukes Are Packing Fans In

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The last of the Ukes is packing fans into Boston Garden and pouring goals in for the amazing Bruins.

Johnny Bucyk, the rugged left winger who played alongside Bronco Horvath and Vic Stasiuk on Boston's high-powered Uke Line in the late 1950's, fired two goals in Thursday night's 3-1 National Hockey League victory over New York and became the highest scorer in Bruins' history.

A crowd of 13,909, 13th sellout in 15 Bruin home games, saw the surprise East Division leaders extend their unbeaten streak to seven games and move three points ahead of idle Toronto by beating the Rangers for the fourth time in four meetings.

In Thursday night's only other NHL action, Montreal and Detroit played to a 2-2 deadlock.

Bucyk's 17th and 18th goals of the season matched his 1966-67 total and sent him one point ahead of Milt Schmidt, the Bruins' current general manager, on the club's all-time scoring list.

Bucyk has registered 576 points—on 234 goals and 342 assists—since Detroit traded him to the Bruins 10 years ago. Schmidt, center on the Bruins' legendary Kraut Line, set the old record in 16 NHL seasons.

The third place Red Wings ran their unbeaten streak to five games on Floyd Smith's tying power play tally late in the second period. Alex Delvecchio gave the Wings a 1-0 first period jump but the Canadiens struck twice within 72 seconds in the second session before Smith score the equalizer.

Rookie Mickey Redmond connected for Montreal at 4:01 of the second period and Jean Beliveau, back in the line-up after missing five weeks with injuries, scored at 5:13, giving the Canadiens their short-lived lead.

Nevele Pride Is Top Horse Of '68

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nevele Pride has been voted Harness Horse of the Year in the annual nationwide balloting conducted by the U.S. Trotting Association.

Nevele Pride, the first 2-year-old trotter ever so honored, was the choice of 108 of the 199 members of the U.S. Harness Writers' Association who participated in the poll.

Nevele Acres of Ellenville, N.Y., owner of the champion colt, will receive the national award at the Harness Writers' banquet Sunday night in New York City.

(Saturday) — Packers find themselves in unusual position of underdogs with their division title already clinched and Rams still straggling. Two tough, rugged defensive clubs, Rams' running attack rates edge but it could be a title of field goals — Don Chandler vs. Bruce Gossett.

Cleveland 28, St. Louis 23— Browns need win to snuff out Cards. Cleveland won Oct. 15 game 20-16 with help of three interceptions and three field goals by Lou Groza. Probable loss of Bob DeMarco could hurt St. Louis in last home game but Cards are desperate and must win to stay alive.

New York 28, Detroit 21— Giants still have a shot at third-place money in Eastern Conference and are at home. Lions have nothing to salvage but pride after 3-7-2 season. Mel Farr set to put on show for Yankee Stadium fans. Lions' pass defense makes it tough for Fran Tarkenton.

Chicago 21, Minnesota 17— Both clubs closing strong after shaky starts. Bears won 17-7 Oct. 1 when Gail Sayers led attack. Sayers coming off hot game at San Francisco wants to close home season with a burst. Chicago defense should shut off Vikings.

Baltimore 31, New Orleans 7— Colts put on big show for home fans in last game before hitting road for finale. Gary Cuozzo, Steve Stonebreaker, Ted Davis and Jackie Burkett would like to show up old mates but Saints don't have horses to match Colts.

Dallas 28, Philadelphia 21— Cowboys just tuning up for Dec. 24 Eastern Conference game with Cleveland-St. Louis survivor. Eagles did upset Dallas 21-14 in Philadelphia Oct. 29 on a fumble and onside kick when Don Meredith was out of line-up. Despite loss of Bob Hayes, Dallas should get even.

San Francisco 24, Atlanta 14— Two losers with nothing at stake. The 49ers could be showcasing George Mira, who playing out option, San Francisco won first game 38-7 on Sept. 24 but they have lost six straight and Falcons have dropped five in a row.

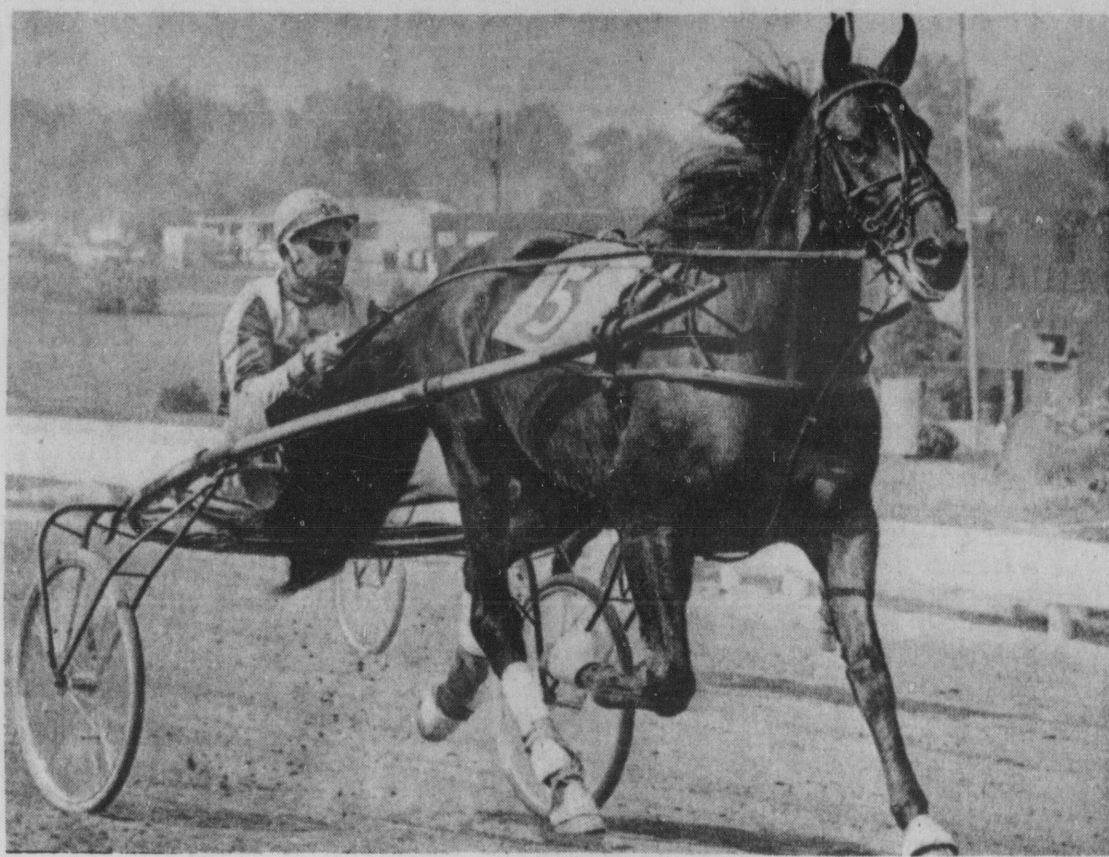

Washington 35, Pittsburgh 24— Despite Redskins' leaky defense and Steelers' upset win over Lions, Sonny Jurgensen should ruin Pittsburgh's last home game. Washington has won four in a row over Steelers since 1964 and comes off wild 35-35 tie with Eagles. Redskins won exhibition game 16-10 in September in Norfolk, Va.

AFL
Boston 20, Buffalo 14— Patriots always beat Bills even when Buffalo is having a good year. Boston rolled to 23-0 score Sept. 24 when Jim Nance carried 34 times for 185 yards and defense picked off five Buffalo passes.

Kansas City 28, New York 24— Chiefs have nothing to gain and Jets are locked in desperate tie with Houston. But the Chiefs rolled up 24-18 score Nov. 5 at home when Mike Garrett ran for 192 yards and Joe Namath was intercepted three times. Unless Chiefs are walking through the rest of schedule they should do it again, despite fact this is last Jets home game.

Oakland 30, Houston 17— Raiders smell that Super Bowl dough and won't let tough Oiler defense stop them. It should be a great battle between Oakland's pass rush and Houston's blockers. Raiders have smeared quarterback 61 times. Oilers' passer has been thrown only 17 times.

San Diego 21, Miami 17— Tougher than it looks for Chargers who will be without Lance Alsworth and possibly Dick Post. Dolphins have been doing good job lately with Bob Griese improving fast. Denver has the bye.

Voted Top Honors

Nevele Pride, trained and driven by Stanley Dancer, was voted "Harness Horse of the Year" in balloting by the U.S. Trotting Association and a U.S. Harness Writers' Association. The winner is the first two-year-old ever to be accorded the honor. He is owned by Nevele Acres of Ellenville, N.Y. (UPI)

MU Tigers Stalking First Home Victory

COLUMBIA, MO., Dec. 8 (Special) — A nice treat for a new coach — his first home basketball win — is again the target of Mizzou's team against Hardin-Simmons here Saturday night.

The Tigers gave it a try in a 78-69 loss to Indiana here Monday night — but 27 turnovers and poor free-throwing canceled out a spirited, all-out performance.

Bruins Go For 36th Win

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
UCLA's Bruins, the national collegiate basketball champions, go after their 36th straight victory tonight in their home opener against Wichita State.

Ordinarily the Bruins, led by towering 7-foot-1 Lew Alcindor, would be regarded as a shoo-in over the Wheatshockers, but after their hair-breath escape from defeat last week at the hands of Purdue, many fans are waiting to see what happens to the Bruins' streak.

UCLA beat Purdue 73-71 at Lafayette, Ind., last Saturday on a 30-foot shot by Bill Sweek at the final buzzer.

Houston, second ranked to UCLA in The Associated Press poll, was the only team in the Top Ten to play Thursday night and the Cougars enjoyed a home court 121-88 romp over North Dakota State.

All-America Elvin Hayes, the Big E, scored 38 points for Houston and became the all-time major college scoring leader in Texas with 1,776 points. Ron Schlieman tossed in 50 points for the losers.

Bradley wallowed Memphis State 80-52 at Peoria behind Joe Allen's 24 points while Arizona State pulled out an 87-81 road victory over Creighton at Omaha. Roger Dettler led the winning Sun Devils with 25 points. Bob Portman threw in the same number for Creighton.

NYU whipped Texas 75-67 and Manhattan downed Rhode Island 68-65 in the first double-header of the season at New York's Madison Square Garden.

St. Louis routed Hardin-Simmons 107-80 while in other home court triumphs Georgia Tech beat Georgia 86-78, Samford downed Mississippi State 66-63, Arizona took Northern Arizona 82-74 and Texas A&M defeated West Texas 89-83.

On the road, Holy Cross edged Dartmouth 73-70. Wofford beat The Citadel 68-60, Virginia downed VMI 84-79 and Florida took Florida State 95-87.

The Hoosiers, co-champions of the Big Ten last year, did not lock up the win until the final minute.

Now the Cowboys from Abilene, Texas come to Tigertown with a similar-type club — free-wheeling, quick-draw shooters who play a pressure defense. A year ago they finished 17-9, and were the tenth-best scoring outfit among major colleges, scoring 100-plus points seven times.

Coach Norm Stewart of Missouri knows the assignment is a toughie for his first M. U. team — one that probably still hasn't achieved the unity and self-confidence that typifies a veteran crew. Two sophomores are in the starting five, plus a third senior who played just a half-season last year.

"If we'd beaten Indiana . . . and we had a shot at them . . . that momentum would have been a big help against Hardin-Simmons," Stewart says. "Now we have to bounce back from that great effort, and get another one like it."

The Bengal coach faulted his team's execution against Indiana, adding . . . "but they were bigger, stronger and quicker and just wore us down. No doubt they forced us to execute poorly."

Hardin-Simmons took a 2-0 record into Thursday night's game with St. Louis U., at Kiel auditorium. They beat McMurry and Midwestern U. Missouri (1-1) knocked off Arkansas, 74-58, at Fayetteville.

The Tigers have three scorers in double figures, but need a pick-up in back court point production. Gene Jones, wily center, is averaging 19.5. Tom Johnson 17.0 and sophomore Don Tomlinson 13.5.

Guards Pete Helmbrock (4.5) and Dave Bennett (4.0) are capable of stronger offensive support. Bennett, though, defended superbly against Indiana's Vern Payne, the Hoosier guard going 0-for-8 from the field.

Hardin-Simmons returns two fulltime regulars — 6-4 Clarence McHenry and 5-11 Max Brownlee — with McHenry billed as "one of the quickest forwards in college basketball." He averaged 11.5 last year, and Brownlee 13.3.

Joining these holdovers will be a pair of junior college transfers — 5-10 Buddy Haines and 6-3 J. W. Fairman — plus a 6-5 line player, LeRoy Watson.

Coach of the Cowboys is Paul Lambert, a William Jewell college graduate in 1956 whose first basketball job was at nearby Moberly high school. After four years there and another at Boone, Ia. high, he coached for three years at Kansas State college in Pittsburg.

In two games, Mizzou has averaged 71.5 points to 68.0 for the opponents. The Tigers have shot 37.7 from the field, the opposition 31.0.

Probable Starting Lineups
Missouri — Tom Johnson (6-4) F; Don Tomlinson (6-4) F; Gene Jones (6-6) C; Pete Helmbrock (6-2) G; Dave Bennett (6-2) G.

Hardin-Simmons — Clarence McHenry (6-4) F; LeRoy Watson (6-5) F; J. W. Fairman (6-5) C; Max Brownlee (5-10) G; Buddy Haines (5-10) G.

Tipoff: 7:35 p.m. CST. Saturday, Brewer field house.

Surgery Curtails A Career

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Mel Walker will play no more football.

His collegiate grid career, ripe with promise, ended Wednesday night. Doctors at Hennepin County General Hospital amputated his left leg just below the knee—the consummate blow of a cruel injury.

He'll have to spend next autumn learning anew how to walk instead of learning University of Wisconsin football plays. He'll have to cheer from the sideline instead of hearing the cheers.

Melvin A. Walker was recruited by Wisconsin as a quarterback.

As a sophomore this past season, Walker didn't get to play quarterback because the Badgers had a senior and a junior ahead of him.

Such was Walker's all-around talent, however, that he moved to defensive safety and became a regular. Going into the season finale against Minnesota here Nov. 25, Mel was Wisconsin's leader in pass interceptions with five for 81 yards and one touchdown and passes broken up with seven.

He also had been credited with four touchdown-saving tackles, was tied for the team lead with two fumble recoveries and had made 31 unassisted tackles and got credit for 16 more assists.

On the sixth play in Minnesota's 21-14 victory over Wisconsin, Mel went high into the air to help break up a Minnesota pass into the Badger end zone. In midair, he collided with a teammate, then fell hard to the turf.

His left knee had taken a blow to the inside, and the outside of the knee was grievously damaged.

The main leg nerve was damaged, there were torn ligaments and cartilage. The muscle attachments at the knee joint had been severed. And the knee capsule and artery were damaged.

"Without question," said Dr. E. Harvey O'Phelan, a University of Minnesota team physician, "it was the worst limb injury I've ever seen. This is as bad as they come."

More surgery will be required, which is normal in such amputations, but doctors foresee no threat to Walker's life. He will be hospitalized here indefinitely, however.

Beban Thinks About Future And Country

NEW YORK (AP) — "You can't take from this country without giving back. It's too tremendous a country not to give back something."

Gary Beban, UCLA's brilliant quarterback, was reflecting on his future—either as a pro signal-caller or a military draftee—while in New York Thursday to receive the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player.

The 21-year-old Californian wants to continue his football career as a pro—and coaches in both the National and American football leagues can't wait for a chance to land him.

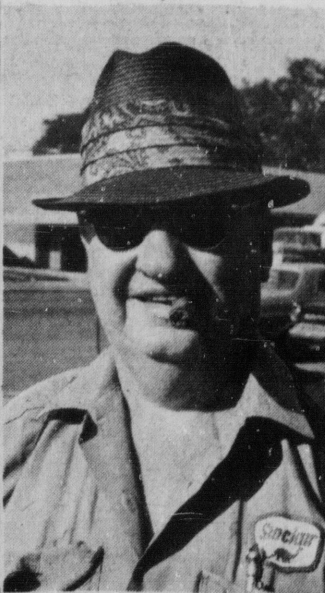

Beban, however, may have to postpone his pro plans and put in a military hitch after he is graduated from UCLA next spring. If the call comes, he'll be ready.

"Right now, I have a student deferment and I'm on a waiting list to get into a reserve unit, but my status is the same as any young man in the country," he said.

"The only unfortunate thing about the draft is it leaves you so uncertain. If I'm drafted, though, I won't complain."

FEEL CROWDED IN?

OR, COULD IT BE EXHAUSTION?

By POLLY CRAMER

Mother thinks she can no longer write plainly enough to address envelopes so was not writing as often as we would like. Now I buy a package of envelopes, address half to me and half to my sister and send the addressed package to mother. This makes letter writing easier for her and we hear much more often.

When sending a card to someone in the hospital, put the patient's home address as the return address on the envelope. If he or she has been dismissed the card will be delivered to the patient's home and not back to you.—ALLIE.

DEAR POLLY—Can someone tell me how to clean a glass-beaded movie screen? Soot and dust on it will not brush off.—MRS. H. B.

DEAR POLL—I learned the following from my adult Girl Scout camp training. We teach our girls to cover the outsides of all pots and pans that will be used over a campfire with either a liquid detergent or a paste made with a dry detergent and water. When dishwashing time comes, the black from the fire comes off with little or no scrubbing. I use this on my own stove reflector plates so anything that might be spilled and then baked on them will come clean with little effort.

No. 10 CAN

Another helpful Scout camp suggestion would be of great help to anyone camping. We use four to six No. 10 cans to support our grilles. Wire bales are attached to the cans, they are filled with water and the tops covered with heavy foil. When cooking is finished we have our hot dishwashing water all ready. Also the grille is level without having to balance it on rocks.—NOREEN.

DEAR POLLY—I think I can help Mitzi remove the make-up discoloration from around her collar. Dip absorbent cotton in rubbing alcohol compound, then rub salt into it and clean with a back and forth motion. Let dry and brush with a soft brush. Try on an inconspicuous spot for effect on color and fabric.—MRS. F. K.

A black and white cartoon illustration. Two characters, a man and a woman, are standing in a shop. The man, on the left, wears a cap and a light-colored shirt. The woman, on the right, has curly hair and wears a dark dress. They are looking at a sign on the wall that reads "SPECIAL! SUPER DELUXE BANANA COLOSSAL 60F". Above them is another sign that says "MALT SH". On the floor, there are some items, including a small black object and some papers. The scene is set in a shop with shelves and a counter visible in the background.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My neighbor has gotten into the habit of doing her marketing with me. I have a car and she does not.

At first I didn't mind helping her out but now I am getting sick of it because she does things that embarrass me. Last week she stood in the fresh fruit and vegetable department and picked through four boxes of berries to put together a perfect box for herself. Then she stuck her thumb through two tomatoes and a plum to make sure she was getting her "money's worth."

She is constantly accusing the butcher of short-weighting her and once she walked behind the meat counter to get a close look at the scale. He told her to get back where she belonged and they got into an awful argument. Yesterday they advertised a special on chickens and when we got there they had run out. She made a scene and everyone stood around like it was a show. I walked out and waited for her in the car.

This woman has done me many favors and I want to reciprocate but her antics are a bit too much. I'd like your advice — BLUSHING BEATRICE.

Dear B: Drive your friend to the store, lose her once you get there and arrange to meet in the car. If it will make you feel better, tell her what you are doing and why. It won't change her conduct but it will make an honest woman of you.

Dear Ann Landers: May I comment on your criticism of the minister who, after performing the wedding ceremony, turned to the guests and said, "I would like to introduce Mr. and Mrs. —" "Everyone laughed and applauded as if they were watching a musical comedy. Your attack on the minister for his "theatrics" was unjust.

As the wife of a clergyman I could tell you stories that would make your hair stand up on end. Your criticism should be leveled not at the minister but the members of the congregation. They should be ashamed of themselves for pressuring him to introduce cheap gimmicks into church rituals.

My husband feels, as you do, that show biz has no place in a religious service. Unfortunately the trend is that weddings are becoming more social and less sacred. When important members of the congregation insist certain things be done, the minister finds it virtually impossible to refuse.

Blaming the clergyman seems to be everyone's favorite sport, but I was surprised to see you join that unthinking group.

DISAPPOINTED
Dear Disappointed: In the final analysis it is the clergyman who decides how much, if any, show biz antics will be incorporated into a sacred ceremony. The minister who caves in to demands which he feels aren't proper does a grave disservice to his faith, his congregation and himself.

Confidential to Tired Of The Rat Race: You know very well what you ought to do. You just need someone to tell you to go ahead and do it. So, I'm telling you. The trouble with rat races are that the rats sometimes win.

Professor Of History In Speech

Dr. Harley H. Zeigler, professor of the history and philosophy of religion at the Missouri School of Religion in Columbia, gave a fascinating address to the members of the American Association of University Women at their Christmas dinner meeting at Flat Creek Inn on Dec. 4. His topic was "Spiritual Challenges in the World's Religions."

Members of other religions, said Dr. Zeigler, receive the same comfort from their religions that we receive from ours. From his many experiences with persons of other faiths he related personal incidents to illustrate this point. In a Jewish service which he attended there was a point at which the rabbi asked if anyone was suffering from illness, misfortune, death. When responses came from those in the temple, the entire congregation mourned with, prayed for, and comforted the afflicted.

Once Dr. Zeigler entertained a Moslem in his home for both Thanksgiving and Christmas. There were no conflicts; instead each learned a deep respect for the other's faith.

In Hawaii Dr. Zeigler attended in a Buddhist temple a service to end the old year and begin the new. All the sins of the past were burned so that the new season could begin free of evil. A Japanese grandmother at one point in the ceremony broke into uncontrollable sobs, but as the service continued she grew more and more calm until she was able to leave the temple serene and secure. Her faith meant much to her as it does to all Buddhists, who keep in their homes small shrines to be the center of their lives. The speaker had on display one of these lovely, small home altars.

Many Buddhists are also Shintoists and incorporate into their beliefs the elements of comfort common to both groups. A Shinto priest, who during World War II, was placed unjustly in a concentration camp and whose lovely temple and garden were confiscated, was not bitter but returned after the war to convert his small home into a shrine. His religion had sustained and comforted him in adversity. He at one time showed Dr. Zeigler a picture of Jesus with a bleeding heart which he kept near his own Shinto shrine. His question was, "Why don't you Christians accept the Shinto faith just as I believe in the Christian faith, too?"

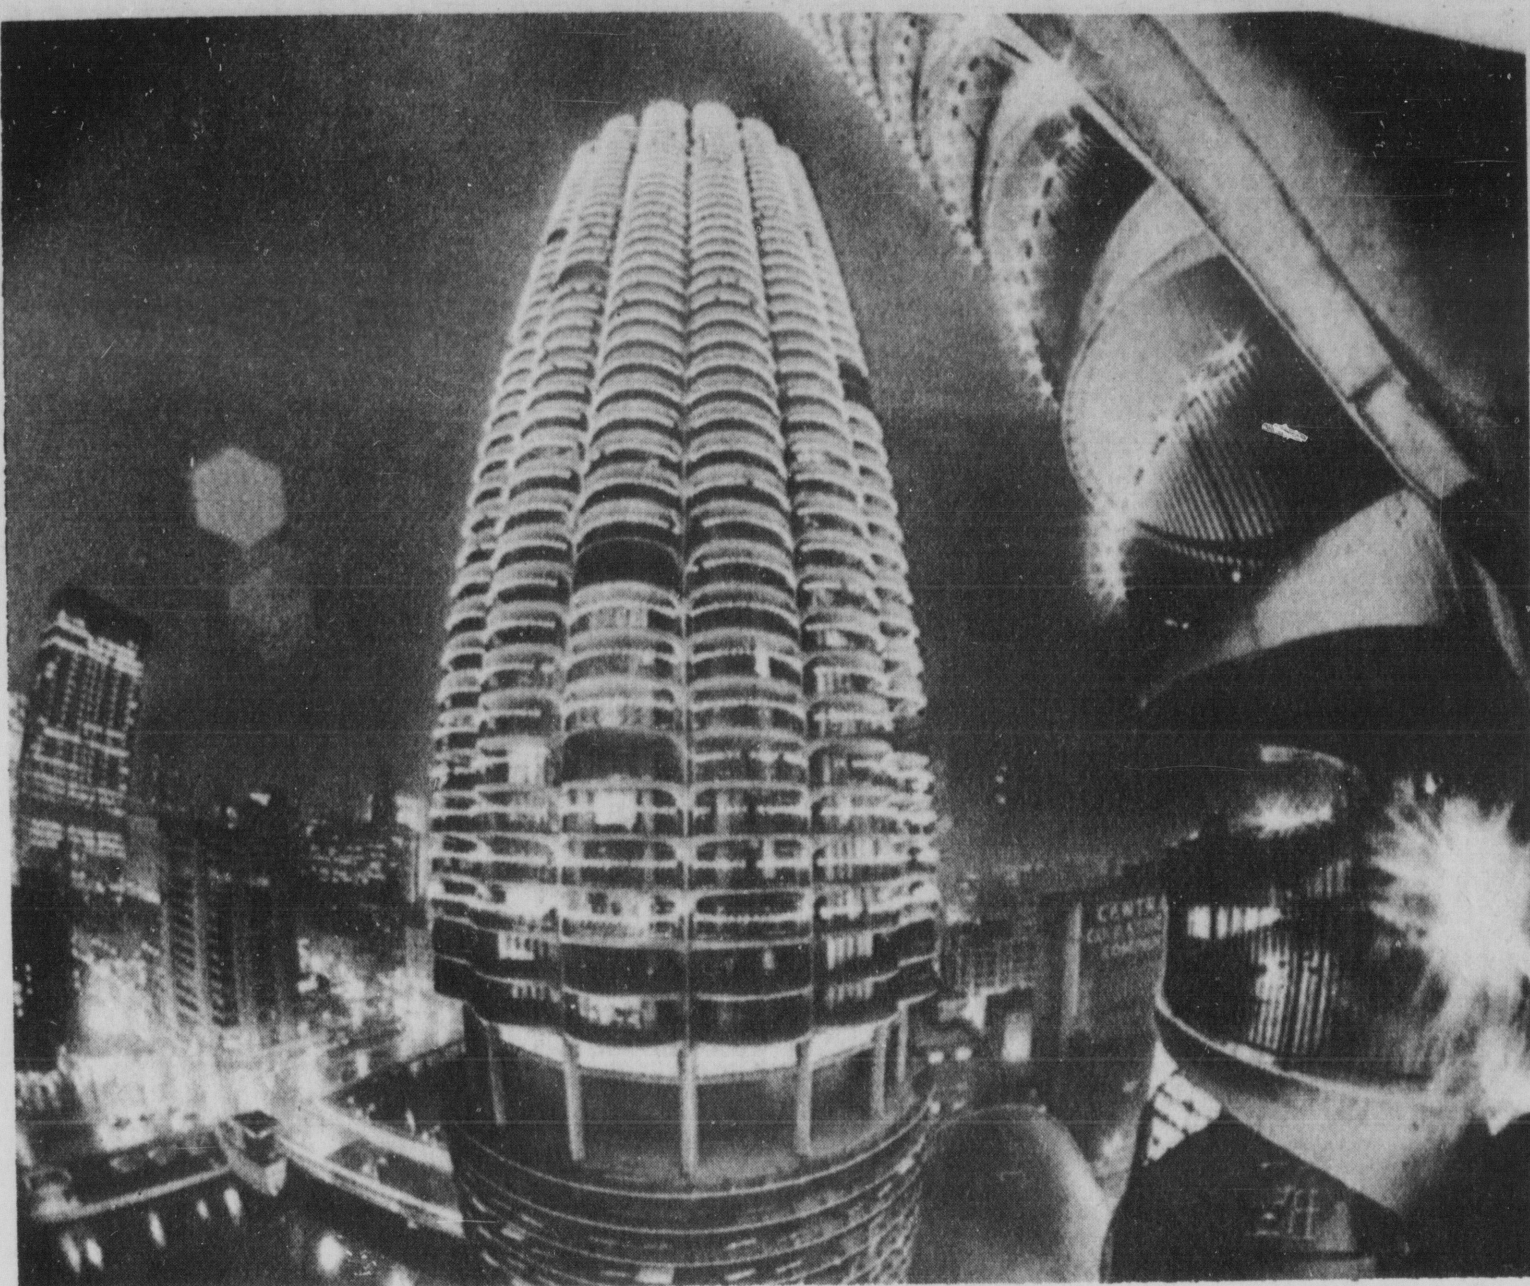

The great religions sometimes take away a man's regret to be human and demand that man live by a code of action outside himself. Daoism is a basic part of Chinese philosophy. This religion maintains that there is a great Dao. Each person must find his Dao and live up to it. If a man orients his life on the Dao he will not be influenced by others but only by the great Dao, and he will act toward all with good. Spiritual values will make him steadfast. The Daoist will have none of victory by force of arms. His three ideals are gentleness, frugality, and humility. He lives secure in these concepts.

Confucianism is more than an ethic. Its goal is for each man to become a scholar. Knowing that human nature is the same everywhere at all times the Confucianist wants to refine human nature for all times. He believes that the four basic intuitions are compassion (we reject this as weakness), shame (we reject this because it is embarrassing), reverence and a sense of approval. (we reject both of these because they cause conformity.) Confucianism reserves our interpretation and believes that through these four intuitions we can move with ease and nobility into whatever situation we must face.

Jainism is the faith of a small group in India which contributes to their country great artists, bankers, lawyers but not to any occupation which involves either hurt or injury or death to any living thing by thought, word or deed. The Jainists live by 12 commandments, all of which are practical admonishments that lead to goodness. Theirs is a doctrine of harmlessness and of a belief that spirit rules matter. The Jainist finds hope and sustenance in his beliefs.

The virtues of Hinduism are set forth in the great epic, the Ramayana. With skill Dr. Zeigler told the story of the Rama whom Vishnu had created half divine in order to overcome the evils of the world. The adventures of Rama bring out the social virtues of home, adherence to one's word, faithfulness to each other of husband and wife, loyalty of family to one another. The Rama becomes to the Hindu what Jesus is to us.

Dr. Zeigler believes that the other religions help hold up our own faith and contribute to the Christian faith which applies to only a small part of the world's population. He ended his address by saying that the Christian faith must be made very real if it is to stand against these other strong faiths. If God were to send Jesus into the world today where would He send Him? To intellectual capitals? To political capitals? To what country? Dr. Zeigler told the group to ponder the question.

Before the address the meeting was entertained by the Madrigal group from Smith-Cotton High School who sang traditional hymns, Christmas carols, a folk carol and several songs of Christmas cheer. The Madrigal is composed of Meladee Herndon, Barbara Markman, Jaynee Rhoads, Pat Stoecker, Nancy Gray, Pam Mark, Mary Cheffey, Julie Seelen, Richard Mewes, Chuck Crystal, Larry Nuzum, Steve Schondelmeyer, Steve Phillips.

Greg Foster, Dannie Eckles and Eddie Woolery.

Mrs. John Zulauf introduced Mauricio Herrman Dominguez, Guatemala City, Guatemala, and presented him with a boutonniere made of currency. He is the American Field Service student at Smith-Cotton high school. Mrs. Ned Postels, as membership chairman, introduced as guests of the branch, Mrs. Frank Meyers, Mrs. Alonzo Byrd, and Mrs. Harry Browder.

Mrs. Paul Doering, president, welcomed the many husbands and other guests who were present. Mrs. Glen Riekhof announced that the Great Decisions program will begin in February and continue through March. Mrs. Bryan Howe reported that the book study group will read John Gardner's "Self Renewal."

Mrs. Jack Cunningham was program chairman and the hostess committee was composed of Miss Ida Cruzan, Mrs. Jack Cunningham, Mrs. Virgil Ellis, Mrs. W. C. Garton, Mrs. William Faulkner and Mrs. Doretta Waite.

Anatole France was the pen name of Jacques Anatole Thibault.

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — How long does it take to prepare dinner for 200 persons? The U.S. Army can do it in an hour.

A new field kitchen, developed at the Army's food laboratories at Natick, Mass., does it by using microwave ovens and huge blenders—all mounted on a normal size truck. A blender, for example, can toss salad for 100 men in two seconds.

$8 Million State Budget Increase

By LARRY HALL
Associated Press Writer

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes increased his tentative budget for the next fiscal year by almost $8 million after ending the hearings on appeals from state agencies Thursday.

Of this total, about $1 million represented an increase in operating expenses from general revenue tax money and about $6.9 million covered additional capital improvements.

Originally he recommended an operating budget of around $531 million and $21 million for capital improvements, all from general revenue.

Addition of federal and other funds is expected to raise the total for the fiscal year beginning July 1 to about $1.2 billion according to Rep. E. J. Cantrell, D-Overland, House Appropriations chairman.

Last year's record total was $1,142,000,000.

The House Appropriations Committee opens hearings on the budget next week. Cantrell said his present goal is to get the bills through the House by Feb. 1. The special legislative session opens Jan. 12 and must end 60 days later.

The governor said his $1 million increase in operating expenses included about $400,000 for the new Department of Community Affairs, about $262,000 for the Department of Agriculture, $41,500 for the Department of corrections and only minor changes elsewhere.

The $6.9 million increase in capital improvements included $3,864,000 to build the first of five proposed juvenile treatment centers at Fulton State Hospital — a project reported ready for bids.

The governor also restored $763,000 to begin a new sports complex at Lincoln University, including a new stadium, a new track, intramural fields and tennis courts. It did not include a requested field house.

Also approved was $68,000 for Lincoln U. to buy additional land but the governor said this is not yet a firm figure.

For the University of Missouri, the governor approved an additional $1.6 million to build a computer and mathematic center at the Rolla campus, $1 million for repairs and replacements and $1 million for campus development at the St. Louis campus, plus $2.4 million for a new arts and science building, there, $750,000 for laboratory facilities at Columbia and Kansas City, $1.9 million for a school of education at the Kansas City campus.

At Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg, the governor granted a total of $1,450,000. That includes $600,000 each to renovate Morris and Humphrey Halls and $250,000 for repairs and replacements.

Another $350,000 was allowed to plan a new maximum security prison near Jefferson City.

Northwest State College at Maryville got $600,000 for a women's gymnasium, Southwest State at Springfield $35,000 to plan an industrial education building and Southeast State at Cape Girardeau $25,000 to plan a new administration building.

The governor said the operating budget is still tentative and could be changed up to the last minute before the special session opens.

French In Arms Deal With Iraq Major Shift In Mideast Policy

PARIS (AP) — French officials said Thursday negotiations are under way for an arms deal with Iraq in what appeared to be a major shift in French Middle East policy. The news caused dismay in Jerusalem.

President Charles de Gaulle imposed an arms embargo on the Middle East in June at the outbreak of hostilities between Israel and surrounding Arab states. Israeli forces quickly won a stunning victory, thanks largely to French-made Mirage fighter-bombers.

Shortly afterward, Israel sought delivery of 50 more Mirage planes it had ordered from France and on which it had made a down payment. But the Israelis were turned down and relations between Jerusalem and Paris became severely strained when De Gaulle accused Israel of being the aggressor in the June 5-9 war.

French sources now say the sale of arms to Iraq is considered "desirable" and indicated the other Arab nations would also receive a more favorable response to arms requests, breaking the June embargo. France does not want to "close itself up" in an "exclusive alliance" with Israel, one source said.

There was no official word when Iraq negotiations would be terminated, but an Iraqi military mission, headed by Gen. Hassan Sabri, assistant chief of staff, is now in France.

Some reports, neither officially confirmed nor denied, said Iraq is asking for 50 Mirage V fighters, 15 Mirage E3 fighters, 8 Nord-Atlas troop carrying planes, 4 training planes and 150 armored cars.

The French sources commented that it had always been said by France that the Middle East arms embargo "would budge with the times." They said France has no reason not to sell arms to Arab countries which would be good outlets for France.

What Happens To License Fees?

By PATRICK CLARK

Did you ever wonder what happens to the money you pay for dog licenses, city stickers, cigarette taxes, building permits, or hunting or fishing licenses? Well, money paid to the city is deposited in the city's general revenue fund from where it is disbursed by the city clerk's office to the various city departments for operation during the year.

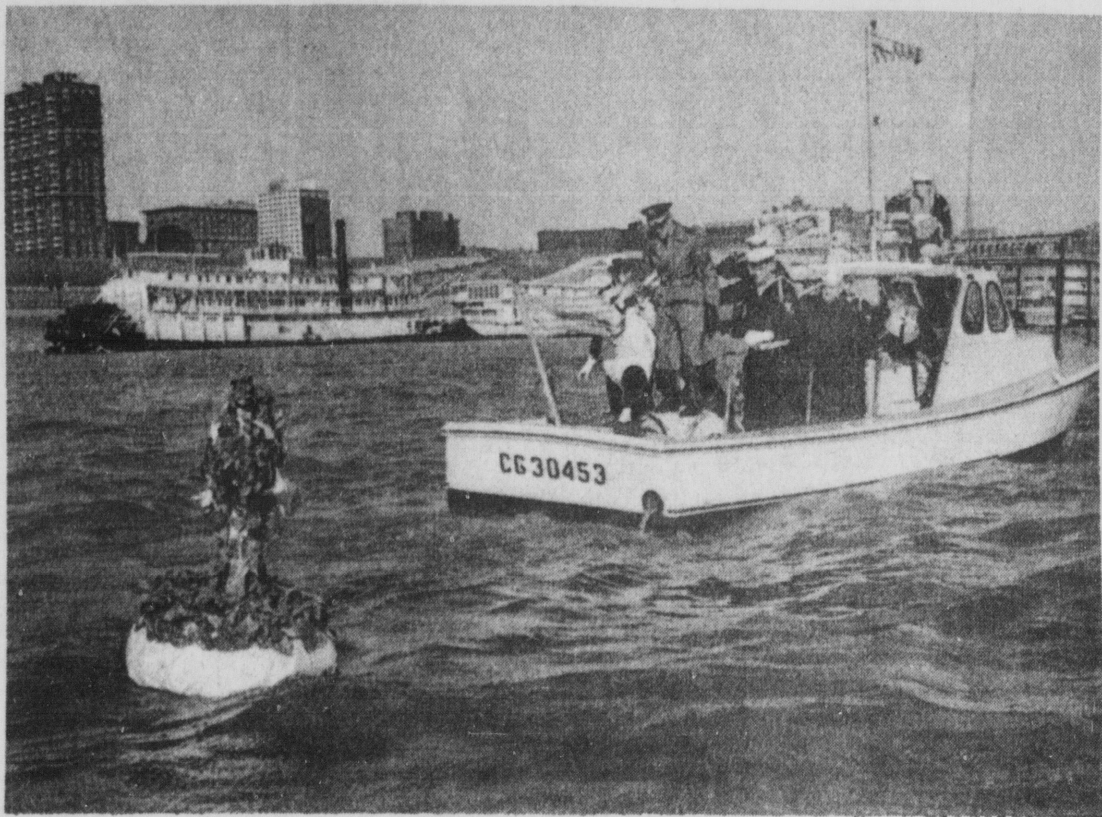

Take for example the fines paid the police department for violation of the city's numerous laws. During the month of October, 1967, $3,585 was received by the police department for the various infractions. This money is turned in to the city clerk who deposits it in the general revenue fund and disburses it to the department for operational costs. During the fiscal year 1966-67 which ended May 31, the department collected a total of $33,759 in fines which will account for a large part of this year's expenditures.

Included in the costs of each gallon of gasoline you purchase is a state gas tax which is refunded to the city by the state. This money in turn is earmarked for the Street and Alley Department. The department also gets the monies from city sticker and taxicab license fees, plus all the money that is paid to the city for any cuts made in the city streets for the installation of water lines or repairs. These four items account for $183,000 in this year's department budget of $219,660.

The $2.05 property tax that is paid by city residents is also split before being deposited in the bank. $1 of the tax is placed in the city's general revenue fund which is used by all the departments in the city. The money is divided among the city departments as needed and indicated in the budget each department submits when the city council prepares the budget for the fiscal year. The other $1.05 is placed in the city's funded account which is used entirely for the payment of bonds and park operations. Of the $1.05 per $100 assessed valuation, 20 cents goes to the park department, 10 cents to the library, five cents for the firemen's pension, and 70 cents to retire the city's bonds.

The money paid for hunting licenses is used in different ways. Money paid to Jim Green, county collector, is turned into the state who returns it to the Conservation Commission for their use. Money paid for a hunting license at a store is also turned into the state but the seller gets to keep 25 cents of the license fee.

Last year the city also collected $85,205.55 from cigarette taxes. $2,285 from the weighmasters station, and $27,082.60 from the airport. All this money was deposited in the general fund account for use in the fiscal year 1967-68.

Memorial Wreath

St. Louis—A floating wreath was placed in the Mississippi River in a Pearl Harbor Memorial service here Thursday. The Baden, Mo., AMVETS Post 13, in cooperation with 2nd District U.S. Coast Guard detachment here, placed the floral cross in the river to honor the men who died in the attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941.

Expand Window Hours At Main Post Office

Window service hours at the main post office will be expanded for the convenience of local patrons for their Christmas mailings starting Saturday, Dec. 9. The complete schedule as announced by Postmaster Maurice Hogan is as follows:

Saturday, Dec. 9 — 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sunday, Dec. 10 — 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Monday through Friday, Dec. 11 through 15 — 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Saturday, Dec. 16 — 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Sunday, Dec. 17 — 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Monday through Friday, Dec. 18 through 22 — 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Saturday, Dec. 23, and thereafter normal service resumes. The postmaster urges you to clip this schedule for handy reference.

Hogan also offered the following tips for a successful Christmas mailing:

Pack all gifts in sturdy boxes, wrap them in heavy paper and tie them with strong cord, place a list of the contents inside the package along with the recipient's name and address, place enough cushioning material in the box to prevent rattling or shifting of contents, make certain the address and return address is written or printed clearly, and they are complete with proper 5 digit Zip-Code. Place the address on one side of the package only. Buy sufficient insurance for valuable gifts. Mail distant packages now, local packages by Dec. 15.

Marketing Year Ends For Wool

Growers were reminded today that the 1967 marketing year under the wool and mohair program ends Dec. 31.

Samuel Hieronymus, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, explains that this means that payments for the current 1967 year will depend on completing all details of marketing either wool, mohair, or lambs, by that date. Marketings completed after Dec. 31, 1967, will become marketings in the 1968 marketing year, and thus not eligible for payments until early 1969.

The Chairman urges producers to make sure that all details for the 1967 sales are completed by the end of the year. This includes passing title to the buyer, delivering the wool or mohair to the buyer either physically or through documents, such as warehouse receipts or bills of lading, transferring control to the buyer, and having available all the information needed to determine the buyers' total purchase price.

Applications for 1967 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act may be filed with the ASCS county office at any time, and the Chairman advises that this be done as soon as possible. Incentive payments under the wool program are based on the average national price for marketings during the whole year, and this can be determined more exactly if reports on marketings are complete. ASCS therefore is urging that all 1967-year applications be filed before Jan. 31, 1968.

Payments for the 1967 marketing year will likely begin in April of next year.

Mailers may write "Do Not Open Until Christmas" on the outside of the Christmas package. If a letter or message is enclosed, it must be so noted, and extra first-class postage should be paid for the letter in addition to the parcel rate.

Postal sub-stations are located at the following addresses: Duff's Variety, 413 South Engineer; Bard's Drug, 404 South Ohio; Hurt's Pharmacy, 504 West 16th; and Cash Hardware in State Fair Shopping Center.

May Be Planning Invasion

SAIGON (AP)—A heavy Communist shelling of U.S. Marine positions along the demilitarized zone has re-emphasized a possibility North Vietnamese regulars will try another invasion in force across that shortcut into South Vietnam.

After more than two months of relative quiet in the DMZ sector, North Vietnamese gunners loosed 276 rounds of mixed mortar and artillery fire Wednesday, with most of it apparently centered on the Leatherneck base at Con Thien.

Northeast of Con Thien there was a four-hour firefight between elements of the 4th Marine Regiment and a North Vietnamese company estimated at about 150 men.

The shells from the heavy Communist weapons and the ground clash left seven Marines dead and 77 wounded, the U.S. Command said Thursday.

Three North Vietnamese were reported killed.

In the area of the fighting, the command said, a Marine plane accidentally dropped a bomb on the edge of the U.S. positions. The explosion killed five Marines and wounded two.

The flareup along the once neutral buffer strip between the two Vietnams bore out predictions that new fighting could be expected there soon. U.S. intelligence officers consider North Vietnam still has 35,000 or 40,000 regulars poised in and north of the DMZ for a possible thrust into South Vietnam.

Marines have beaten back several heavy incursions in the last two years.

Con Thien, two miles south of the strip, was under artillery siege through September. Nearly 1,000 Marines were killed or wounded. In their most active day Sept. 25, the Red gunners lobbed over more than 1,000 shells ranging up to 120mm projectiles.

Three Counties Form Technical Action Panel

Representatives of agricultural agencies in Johnson, Lafayette, and Pettis Counties have been organized into a Technical Action Panel (TAP). Members of this Three-County TAP are Stanley Ponce, Warrensburg, Extension; Hollis I. Ryland, Warrensburg, FHA; Robert Neal, Warrensburg, Mary E. Anderson, Sedalia, Raymond Tempel, Higginsville, ASCS; and John Richardson, SCS. Mr. Ryland is chairman of the group.

The purpose of the TAP is to work with local groups in each county in developing and carrying out projects that would contribute to community betterment. The TAP can also serve as a resource group for the Show-Me Regional Planning Commission when their work is activated.

Two specific activities of the TAP can be to help identify those present resources that are not being profitably used and make plans to increase their efficiency, and to help local groups get in touch with outside sources of help that could be used to develop community betterment projects.

The TAP members encourage each community to take an inventory of their resources and needs and from this develop plans for projects that will make their community a better place to live. Mr. Ryland states that any of the TAP members will be glad to discuss any development idea with anyone and be of such help as they can in determining its feasibility and making plans to activate it.

There will be a meeting of the TAP on the last Monday of each month at the Farmers Home Administration Office, Warrensburg, at 1 p.m.

Farmers May Extend Loans, Reseal Crops

Farmers with 1964, 1965, and 1966 crops of feed grains now under reseed loans will be able to extend the loans and reseal the crops for another year following maturity dates in the spring and summer of 1968, according to Samuel Hieronymus, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

This announcement, the Chairman said, provides farmers more time than in the past to arrange storage for continued reseed and gives users

Floats To Meet At The Church

It was incorrectly reported in the Wednesday Democrat and the Thursday Capital that the Hughesville Baptist Church will have a float in the annual Christmas parade Dec. 16. The church will not have a float but all floats for the parade should assemble in front of the church.

The deadline for entering floats has also been extended. The date now is by noon Dec. 16. The deadline was previously set for this Saturday but parade officials set the date up a week to allow more floats to enter.

Approve Treatment Of Roads

State Highway Commission approval has been given for oil surface treatment work on 849.3 miles of farm-to-market roads, including several roads in Pettis County. The work is scheduled for the summer months of 1968. The Highway Commission reported.

The work approved will cost about $1,528,740 and the program, according to the report, "extends the Commission's effort to provide 'dust-free' surfaced roadways for Missouri highway users."

Work in counties in The Sedalia Democrat-Capital's trade area includes:

Benton County: Route W — 2.2 miles from Route 52, south; and Route AA — 4.6 miles from Route Y west to Route VV.

Johnson County: Route OO — 10.8 miles from Route M southeast to present oil surface.

Pettis County: Route N — 3.7 miles from Route J, east; Route O — five miles from Route N south to present oil surface; Route AA — 4.8 miles from Route B north to present oil; and Route Z — 4.6 miles from Route N north and east to the Cooper County line.

Saline County: Route AA — 0.5 miles for entire route; and Route EE — four miles from Route 20, north.

All of this work is in District Four with headquarters in Kansas City. District Five, in Jefferson City, work includes:

Cooper County: Route U — 4.6 miles from present oil, south; Route V, 1.4 miles from Route P south to present oil; Route Y — 2.5 miles from Route 41, east; Route PP — 4.1 miles from Route 5, northwest; and 1.3 miles for I-70 south outer roadway from Route 5, west.

Morgan County: Route J — 5.6 miles from Route 5 south to Route 135; and Route NN — 2 miles from Route 135, east.

Social Services In Holiday Work

The Public Social Services Committee of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare is one of the Pettis County agencies trying to bring Christmas into those homes where there is likely to be little or none.

This committee has been supplied, by responsible sources, names of families of Sedalia and Pettis County who are truly needy and appreciative.

For persons, clubs, organizations or groups wishing to adopt or take a family to make this Christmas a happier one, please contact Mrs. W. C. Askew, TA 6-6477 between 8 a.m. and 12 noon, Monday through Friday. There are many family names not yet taken. Request your family early so none of these will be left out. Do not wait until Dec. 21 to make your wishes known.

MoPac Blows a Piston

Whoa, boy!

The Missouri Pacific Railroad Co., is acting like a spirited horse running away with the buggy after some practical joker set off a firecracker under its belly.

The company suddenly wants to abandon entirely its service between Kansas City and St. Louis by asking Missouri Public Service Commission approval of this proposal before the latter has had time to rule on a prior request to eliminate No. 14 and No. 17.

As previously reported here, dismal statistics indicate the nation's railroads are hard pressed to maintain passenger service as a profitable enterprise. Emphasis on this dilemma began to be pronounced when the Post Office Department started dropping rail postal service, once a healthy supporting factor for the railroads. This partly explains the rash of appeals lately to cut loose locomotives from passenger cars and let them haul paying freight.

The public, in so far as Sedalia is concerned, wasn't crying much about losing No. 14 and 17 because there still would be four train schedules left to serve Sedalia.

Surprisingly, however, the Mo Pac asks permission to abandon the whole caboodle of trains at the time everyone is waiting expectantly for the Public Service Commission's decision on No. 14 and No. 17. One wonders whether the railroad isn't blowing a piston.

With all due respect to the economic factors confronting the Missouri Pacific, surely the road won't go broke giving trial runs of the four remaining passenger train schedules to see if patronage of them doesn't pick up after No. 14 and 17 are eliminated.

There must be a better solution to the problem than completely abandoning train service between St. Louis and Kansas City affecting such important intermediate points as Jefferson City, the state capital; Sedalia, home of the Missouri Pacific shops and other important industries; and Warrensburg the Central Missouri State College town.

An effective analysis in support of the continuation of the four train services was presented by Councilman Walter Jessee to city council Monday night appealing for public protest.

We can be sure the Public Service Commission will consider the Missouri Pacific's latest plea in time, but not before thorough and lengthy consideration of the people's vital interest in such a matter as complete abandonment of Missouri Pacific passenger rail service through the heart of Central Missouri.

McNamara, Joint Chiefs in Accord

By DREW PEARSON and JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — A significant interchange took place at the meeting of the National Security Council shortly after the news leak that Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara was transferring to the World Bank.

President Johnson, who was presiding, remarked: "In regard to the stories about Bob" — and he nodded toward the Secretary of Defense — "those who have worked with him here should know the facts."

He then told how last April McNamara had been offered the presidency of the World Bank, was intrigued with the idea but was willing to stay on. Finally the President, not wanting to stand in the way of his accepting this challenging post, had authorized him to take it.

"At no time has there been any animosity between Bob and the joint chiefs," the President said, referring to reports of bickering by McNamara and the generals.

"But," he continued, turning to Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, "I seem to remember that at these meetings you have nearly always been here. To make sure, however, I had a check made. It showed that out of 50 meetings, you were here 43 times."

"Those other times I was either sick or out of the country," interjected Gen. Wheeler.

"Has anyone ever barred you from coming to see me?"

"No," was the reply.

"You've all been here," continued the President.

"You've all seen how the decisions were made. Has there been any animosity?"

Members of the National Security Council could say that there had been complete harmony between Gen. Wheeler and the Secretary of Defense. Actually McNamara picked Wheeler for the job, has liked him and respected him. The feeling has been mutual.

There has been resentment and animosity on the part of some admirals and generals at levels below the joint chiefs who at times have run to Capitol Hill hawks to tattletale on McNamara.

But with the Joint Chiefs of Staff it's been on the up-and-up. McNamara has given them permission to testify before congressional committees and has told them they could go over his head to the President whenever they wished. Only once has Gen. Wheeler appealed over McNamara's head to the President.

There have been strong differences in regard to bombing North Vietnam, but never personal acrimony.

—Turning the Clock Back—

All week the old battle over both school desegregation and funds to Catholic schools has droned on in the Senate. The debate is over the new education bill.

The public didn't realize it, but the Republican-Dixiecrat coalition in the House turned back the clock in regard to school desegregation and refused appeal on federal money for parochial schools. The Senate is now trying to reverse this but has run up against a filibuster.

The Catholic school issue was brought to a head by Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina with his amendment permitting taxpayers' suits to challenge the constitutionality of spending taxpayers' money on church schools.

In the House of Representatives the right-wing Catholic lobby managed to stymie a similar amendment. House spokesmen for this lobby are Speaker John McCormack, Mass., John Rooney of Brooklyn, and Jim Delaney of Long Island City, all Democrats. They worked through a Jewish congressman, Emanuel Celler, also of Brooklyn, who holds the strategic position of chairman of the House Judiciary Committee.

Rep. Celler, who has pioneered historic legislation on civil rights but sometimes puts the prosperity of his law firm ahead of legislation, sat on the amendment giving taxpayers the right of judicial appeal. He wouldn't let it out of his judiciary committee.

—Delaying Desegregation—

The setback to school desegregation takes the form of an amendment introduced by Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., which would continue federal funds to southern schools even after the Secretary of HEW had tried to cut them off — as long as there was litigation.

At present, schools are cut off from federal funds the minute Secretary Gardner of HEW makes a decision that a school has failed to desegregate. Under the Fountain amendment they could continue getting federal funds as long as their lawyers were resourceful in making court motions to contest the HEW ruling. This could continue for four years.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the subcommittee handling the education bill, made two adroit moves on the Senate floor last week.

First he asked for a roll call vote on the Ervin amendment, thus put the full Senate on record unanimously in favor of a taxpayer's right to appeal regarding government money being spent on Catholic schools. The vote was 71 to 0.

"In the absence of a roll call, there is a tendency in conference for senators to recede from their original position," explained the senator from Oregon. "I want the record to show that by 71 to 0 the Senate went on record for the Ervin amendment. This amendment is in the best interests of the country to get the court to give us an interpretation of Article 1 of the Constitution."

Morse also suspended debate on the education bill last week in order to give Southern senators, some of them absent, a chance to be heard on Monday. He knew that a filibuster was inevitable, but by showing this courtesy he hoped to get more cooperation from Southern senators in the final showdown.

Note — It was Congresswoman Edith Green, also a Democrat, also from Oregon, who battled inside the House Education and Labor Committee for the Fountain amendment turning the clock back on school desegregation.

Letter to Editor

GEORGE CAIN (805 West Broadway) — Now is the season when many Sedalia stores decorate their windows with fancy Christmas displays, many of the downtown buildings are outlined with lights, and many Sedalians decorate their homes. In recent years the city has displayed lights and ornate decorations along Ohio street. Residents of Sedalia and the surrounding area would drive downtown to see them.

I believe the decorations along Ohio have deteriorated in the last several years. In the past, Ohio avenue was decorated with reindeer, poinsettias, and other beautiful arrangements. Now the artificial roping with lights is strung across the street. Usually many of the lights are burned out giving it a haphazard look. In the past it was a night to note when the decorations were turned on, but now they are indirectly turned on when they are put up.

Sedalians should be able to be proud of the Christmas decorations. I would think an expanding city the size of our community could display some ornate decorations along Ohio avenue. If this was done Sedalia could be proud of the decorations as would the people of Central Missouri who drive in to see them.

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

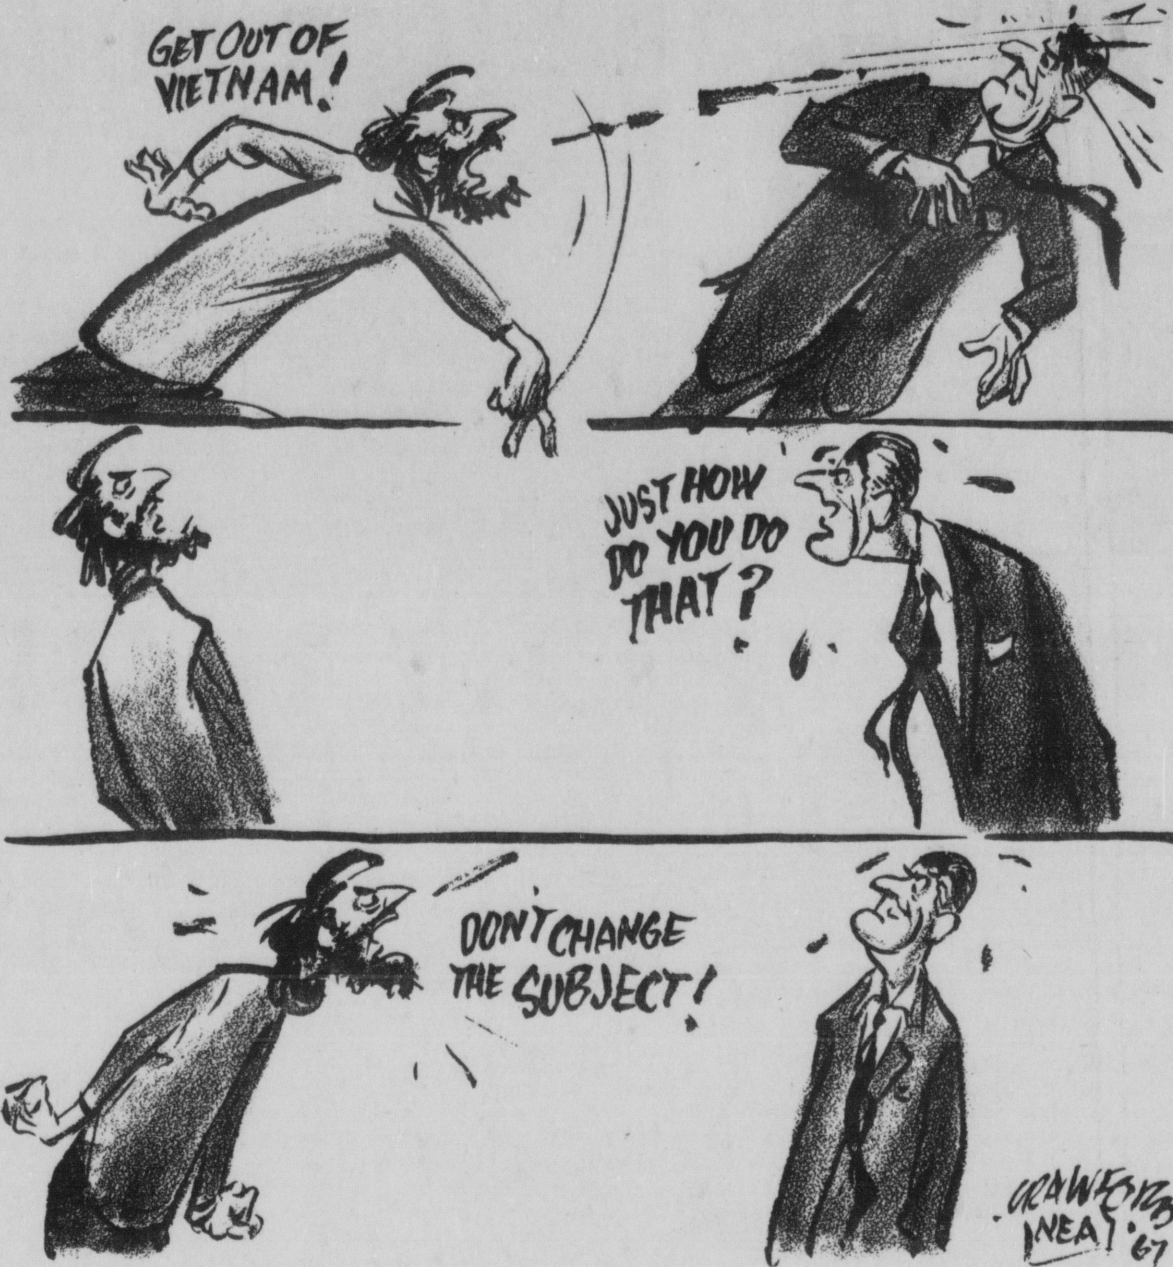

Eight members of Pettis County Post 16, American Legion had their picture taken in new uniforms as auxiliary peace force officers. They were: Elmer Winfrey, commander; Roy Wills, Richard "Dick" Woods, S. L. Farley, Otis Howe, J. H. Brooks, James Franks, post adjutant, and S. J. Timborious. Thirty more members will get similar uniforms. The Legion police are working with the Sedalia police during emergencies and with duties connected with the Pettis County Defense Council.

U.S. Farmer, Manufacturer Hit by Pound Devaluation

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

Devaluation of the British pound is just one more in a growing list of hurdles facing U.S. exports.

Take a few examples of many problems being argued about here:

When American producers ship feed grains to Western Europe, the levy the European Economic Community collects is used for subsidies to undercut American ham sales in the United States and American poultry sales in Switzerland and Greece.

Australia now uses a two-price system to undersell U.S. canned cling peaches in West Germany.

Canada has started a subsidy program for her wheat growers that will enable Ottawa to cut into American sales abroad.

Agriculture Department men admit ruefully that in country after country "new impediments to trade" are being "initiated."

These growing foreign trade restrictions cut into the income of the American farmer and manufacturer and intensify the U.S. balance of payments problem.

Devaluation of the British pound was, in effect, a subsidy to British exporters. Devaluation will make it more difficult for U.S. products to compete in Britain and with some British exports in a variety of countries. If a considerable number of major U.S. competitors and major U.S. customers follow the British example and devalue their currencies it could hurt here considerably.

The American competitive position in markets abroad will be hurt further as farm wages and industrial costs go up. Agriculture Department men estimate "farmworkers as a group may receive a 10 per cent over-all increase in wages and earning for the first year as a result of the new minimum wage for agriculture" which went into effect in February, 1967. Industrial wages are expected to rise 5 per cent in 1968.

The export problem, in part, is the result of a long series of mistakes extending back over two decades. American negotiators at the major trade talks during those 20 years have been too timid to insist that foreign countries make real reductions in their trade barriers.

The United States, during that period, has had some real tariff cuts to offer other countries. If the negotiators had insisted on the elimination of indirect barriers the U.S. export outlook would look much better than it does today.

Government officials now admit that the highly touted "Kennedy Round" of trade negotiations didn't get at the hocus-pocus manipulative type of restrictive barriers mentioned above, which historically have caused more trouble for exporters than high tariffs.

There is no bonus for playing too fast, and the higher the contract the more desirable it should be to stop and work out your best line of play.

The game was rubber bridge and East was faced with quite a problem at his first turn to bid. Should he sacrifice at six spades or should he hope to beat the diamond slam? Eventually, East decided to try for a plus and passed.

West thought of doubling but came to the conclusion that his ace and king of spades weren't guaranteed tricks. He was quite happy that he hadn't doubled when he saw the dummy.

South looked over dummy for all of one second. Then he ruffed the spade; led the queen of diamonds, drew trumps, lost the club finesse and a spade trick when East took his king of clubs and led back a spade.

South asked, "Could I have made the hand, and was my play correct?" The answer to the first question is "Yes" and to the second "No."

South's line of play based his chance of success on the location of the king of clubs. The correct line of play would make the hand irrespective of the location of the king of clubs, provided nothing broke too badly.

At trick two South should have led dummy's ace of clubs and continued with another. East would be in with his king but would be unable to do anything about getting a second trick for his side. If East had held three clubs to the king he might well duck the second club on the theory that South, not West, started with the club singleton. If he did go up and did lead a third club, South would have to decide about how to play the diamonds. If West held the three clubs to the king, South would not have been worried at all.

QUICK QUIZ

McCarthy Chance Is Questionable

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — At this point it looks like a kind of romantic adventure.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota hasn't declared himself a candidate for the presidency. Publicly he hasn't said he's out to dump President Johnson. But he is going to run in several presidential primaries.

It's hard to believe that McCarthy, a Johnson critic on Vietnam and other things, thinks he has a chance, if he does, for the presidential nomination at the Democratic convention next August.

He is not a national figure. He has been in Congress 18 years, 8 of them in the Senate, and his career there has not been particularly distinguished. Newsweek magazine said most of the senators consider him somewhat lazy.

And this week the Louis Harris poll among Democrats pictured him as a 4-1 underdog in any nationwide primary election contest with Johnson. What then is his purpose in getting involved in the presidential picture?

In announcing Nov. 30 he would enter the primaries, he indicated he would be satisfied if his campaign, built around Vietnam, persuaded the Johnson administration to move toward a negotiated settlement in the next five or six months.

If that doesn't happen, he said, "I think this challenge would have to go all the way to a challenge for the nomination for the presidency. It may not be me at that point. It might be someone else."

It has been suggested—but this is highly questionable—that McCarthy is acting as a stalking horse for another Democrat, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, in the sense that McCarthy will take the public pulse and Kennedy can move in against Johnson if it seems good.

In his announcement McCarthy never mentioned Johnson by name but he blasted him this week at breakfast with reporters, saying Johnson was not as "good as president as he could have been" and accusing Johnson of "using and eroding" government institutions and people.

Now that McCarthy has started down that road, he'll probably keep on. Discontent over Vietnam will be the basis of his campaign but he has said he will expand it to include other issues.

McCarthy, who taught at St. Thomas College in Minnesota, has been called an intellectual, a word which is losing its meaning. In recent years it has been applied so loosely to college teachers it's beginning to seem that anyone who can read a book is intellectual.

He's a witty man, grayhaired, 51, and is emerging on the national scene when the discontent over the war is widespread but scattered, taking many forms under many different leaderships.

McCarthy may hope to make himself a rallying symbol for the discontented, a single focus point, and through this make a force that will compel Johnson to soften up on Vietnam or be ruined politically if he doesn't.

There was a time, back in 1964, when McCarthy apparently saw eye to eye with Johnson although that was before the war got overheated. It was at that time that McCarthy was one of the 88 Senators who approved beforehand any action Johnson might take to repel Communist aggression in Southeast Asia. Many of those senators, including McCarthy, are now unhappy with what they did.

That was the Gulf of Tonkin resolution they voted on. McCarthy says now so many interpretations have been placed on the resolution it has taken on a meaning and significance not attributed to it when it was before the Senate.

He must not have been listening. It was clearly explained on the Senate floor that the resolution gave Johnson enough power to take the country into war, if he thought necessary.

McCarthy has been banging away at Johnson's Vietnam policy since early 1966 but most of the time his criticisms have not been escorted by solutions. In his Nov. 30 announcement he was not at all positive about what should be done.

The reporters who later breakfasted with him asked him to spell out what he would do in Vietnam. He said he was for "beginning some kind of pullback" in the hope of getting negotiations going.

In the report on the breakfast there was nothing to indicate what he would do if the North Vietnamese refused to negotiate after a U.S. pullback.

But he was reported as wanting an "honorable settlement" and defined it as a kind of South Vietnamese "coalition government" which would include "Communist influence" and might not be "particularly friendly to the United States." States.

He says the war is "morally wrong," a phrase thinking since he dwells a lot on moralisms, like, since he dwells a lot on moralisms, like Michigan's Republican Gov. George Romney.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Progress of Glaucoma Checked by Eye Drops

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is glaucoma? What causes it? How can its progress be prevented?

A—Glaucoma is a disease of the eye in which the tension within the eyeball is increased. The resulting pressure on the retina causes, in the early stages, rainbow tints or halos around lights, especially at night. As the disease progresses, there may be headache and contraction of the field of vision. Glaucoma is the greatest single cause of blindness in persons who are past 50. The cause is an obstruction of the drainage of the inside of the eyeball. Causative factors include a hereditary tendency, hardening of the arteries and farsightedness.

The first step in prevention is for persons over 50 to have the tension of the eyeball measured every two years or oftener. Warnings to victims of early glaucoma to avoid alcohol are no longer given. Alcohol may even decrease the tension provided the total fluid intake is not excessive, as would be the case if six bottles of beer were consumed in a brief period.

Restrictions on the use of tea and coffee have also been lifted as they do not affect the intraocular tension any more than the drinking of other fluids. Although no definitive studies on smoking and glaucoma have been made, many doctors believe smoking should be restricted because it causes contraction of the small arteries in the eye. Viewing television, however, is harmless unless it takes place in a room so poorly lighted that the pupils become dilated.

Q—I am 73. I see halos around lights at night. My doctor says I do not have glaucoma. What causes this?

A—In addition to glaucoma, cataract and certain lesions of the cornea can cause persons to see halos.

Medford Wickliffe (Sedalia)

Medford E. "Bud" Wickliffe, 58, 640 East 18th, died unexpectedly at the Bothwell Hospital about 4:45 p.m. Thursday after he was apparently stricken with a heart attack. He was Superintendent of the Gas Department of the Missouri Public Service Co. in Sedalia.

Wickliffe was at the gas regulator station on North State Fair Blvd. when he was stricken about 4:30 p.m. Clayton Stephens, who resides at the first turn just across the railroad tracks on the road, brought him to Sedalia in his pickup truck.

According to Mr. Stephens, a lady who was passing, headed south, noticed Wickliffe standing facing the building and as she passed noted him endeavor to attract attention. She stopped at the Stephens residence a short distance away and informed Mr. Stephens of what she saw and he immediately went to the scene.

Stephens said, "When I arrived I saw he was in trouble and as I got to him he said he had a heart attack. I got him in my truck and started for the hospital. As I neared Broadway and Limit, I saw he was in bad shape and as I couldn't get through the traffic I pulled in to the Parks Service Station and they summoned an ambulance."

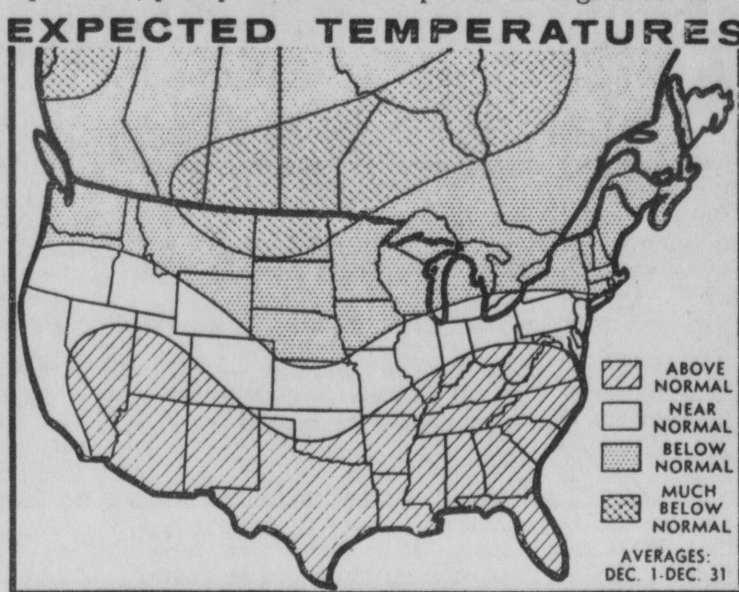

Ewing's ambulance took Wickliffe to the hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Wickliffe has been employed by the Missouri Public Service Co. for many years.

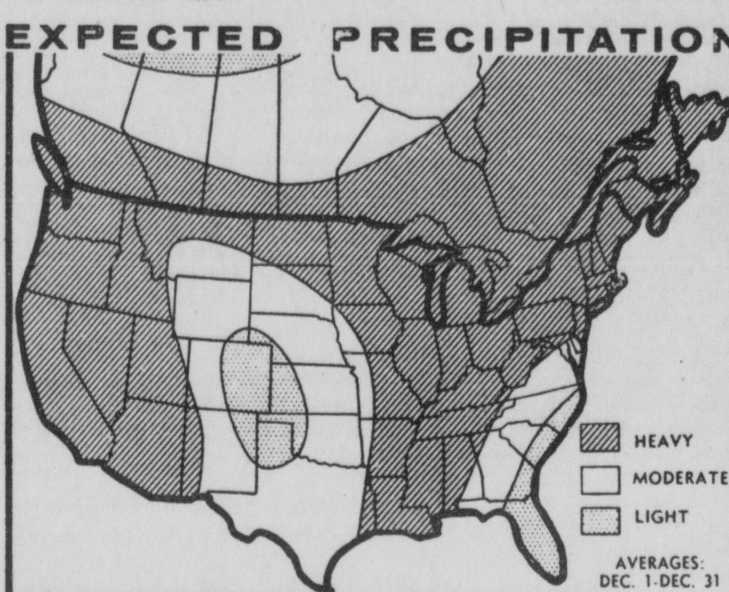

He is survived by his wife, Mary L. Wickliffe, of the home; one son, Garv Wickliffe, Lesterville, Mo.; a daughter, Miss Henry Shellev, Independence; three grandsons and three granddaughters. Also surviving is his father, George Wickliffe, Warsaw; a brother, Paul, Kansas City; a sister,

Second Transplant A Failure

NEW YORK (AP) — Four grim men pushed their way into the small, crowded auditorium in the basement of Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn. They had been up all night.

"I think, first of all, I'm sorry to have to report to you that we have bad news, not good news."

The speaker, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, 49, disclosed Wednesday that his 22-man medical team had failed in the second attempt in four days to transplant a human heart. The transplant of the healthy heart of a dead two-day old boy into the breast of a 2½-week-old boy was completed but the child died 6½ hours later.

"Really, it was quite unexpected," Dr. Kantrowitz said. The boy was doing "reasonably well," he said, but then the heart "stopped suddenly."

"We do not know at this time why this transplanted heart failed," he said.

Dr. Kantrowitz described the attempt as "unequivocally, a failure but said he and his team are planning to try such transplants again.

He insisted the attempted transplant had no connection with the South African operation four days ago in which the healthy heart of a 25-year-old woman killed in an automobile accident was successfully transplanted into a 55-year-old grocer.

Historic Patient Improves

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Louis Washkansky left his sterilized room today for the first time since the historic transplant operation four days ago replaced his failing heart with a healthy one.

Washkansky, in the second day of a week-long critical period during which his body may attempt to reject the alien heart, was wheeled on a bed more than a quarter of a mile through Groote Schuur Hospital to the radiotherapy department for a cobalt treatment intended to prevent rejection.

He was returned to his room 40 minutes later. He received cobalt treatments in his room Tuesday and Wednesday from a hastily built portable radiation device.

Until today, the 55-year-old wholesale grocer had been kept isolated in an oxygen tent because the radiation and drugs designed to overcome the body's tendency to reject foreign substances also leave him more susceptible to infection.

Doctors said there has been no sign so far of "immunological rejection" of the heart transplanted Sunday from a 25-year-old woman killed in an auto crash, but they kept a minute by minute watch on the patient.

Dr. Christian Barnard, who headed the team that operated, told newsmen Wednesday he believes Washkansky's body will continue to accept the new heart.

Washkansky's own heart had been expected to quit this week. But Dr. Barnard said the patient may go home in three weeks if he keeps up his steady improvement. He said Washkansky would be better off at home because "hospitals are where germs are found, and the chance of infection would consequently be greater."

Washkansky's appetite was "not so good" today, a hospital spokesman said. He breakfasted on two boiled eggs after eating minced chicken and mashed potato Wednesday.

Ten Sedalians Attend Dinner

Ten Sedalians attended the testimonial dinner honoring Governor Warren E. Hearnes, in Kansas City, this week. The dinner was sponsored by the Missouri State Building and Construction Trades Council, of which Rep. Thomas Walch, St. Louis, is president.

Attending the dinner were: Rep. Joe F. Rains, W. C. Askew, secretary of the Missouri State Fair; Mike O'Connor's Chevrolet-Buick Co.; H. W. Harris, of the Third National Bank; William R. Parkhurst, of the Parkhurst Manufacturing Co., Inc.; D. Kelly Scruton, of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital; William John and James Menefee, sons of E. W. Menefee, of the Menefee Construction Co., who were host to the Sedalia group.

The youngsters are a hybrid between a variety of blackberry and a southern dewberry.

Accidents

No apparent injuries resulted from a two car accident in the 400 block of East St. Louis at 2:48 a.m. Thursday according to police.

Involved was a car being driven east of St. Louis by Thomas L. Garrison, Knob Noster, and a parked car owned by Millard Young, 225 West Johnson.

According to the police report Garrison's car struck Young's car as it was being backed out of a driveway by Garrison.

Damages were to the right rear of Garrison's car and to the left side of Young's car.

Minor damage resulted in a two-car accident on the Holsum Bread Warehouse parking lot, 17th and Osage, at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a parked 1966 Chevrolet pickup truck, owned by Larry Dean Mahnken, 26, Mora, and a 1964 Pontiac, being backed in the parking lot by Myrtle E. Snyder, 67, 1209 West Fifth.

Damage was to the left side of the Chevrolet and the left rear of the Pontiac.

No injuries resulted in a two-car accident in the 300 block of South Lamine at 3:04 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1964 Chevrolet, driven south on Lamine by Michael E. Zahringer, 18, 615 East Tenth, and a 1956 Plymouth, driven north on Lamine by Smith P. Parkhurst, 78, 903 West Fourth.

Damage was to the left front on the Chevrolet and the front of the Plymouth.

No one was injured in a two-car accident at Seventh and New York at 12:36 p.m. Thursday.

Involved were a 1966 Mercury, driven north on New York by Barbara E. Griggs, 20, 1913 South Harrison, and a 1950 Chevrolet, driven west on Seventh by Michael Wofel, 72, 1215 East Seventh.

Damage was to the right rear of the Mercury and the right front of the Chevrolet.

Wofel was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

Leo James Barnett, 11, escaped injury Thursday at 6:22 p.m. when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a 1964 Rambler, driven north on Massachusetts by Judson Gray Banks, 2009 East Broadway.

Banks told police he stopped at the intersection of Fifth and Massachusetts and when he started forward again, his car struck the boy. Barnett told police the bumper of the car struck his leg and pushed him away from the car.

The boy was apparently shaken up, but did not seek medical attention immediately.

Fires In City

The Sedalia Fire Department made a run to the home of Bill Holman, 616 East 14th, at 7:56 a.m. Thursday when a divan caught fire.

Damage was estimated at $100.

Money For Pun

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A pun in diplomatic repartee won $20,000 extra for the Palestine Arab refugees here this week, Munir Kreidie, a special U.N. aide raising funds at a pledging session for support of the refugees, turned to Irish Foreign Minister Frank Aiken and said, "Mr. Minister, last year you promised to ask Dublin to double." Aiken laughed and said he would remind Dublin, and so Ireland's contribution for 1968 is $40,000 compared with $20,000 this year.

jectiles 4.7 inches in diameter. The bargages Wednesday were the heaviest since.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said earlier this week: "In the DMZ, the situation tends to erupt again." The U.S. Command, in its weekly war summary, noted that action had been building up along the frontier.

Elsewhere in the war: "Troops of the American Division reported they killed 19 of the enemy Wednesday in two actions about 360 miles north of Saigon.

—Along the coast 90 miles farther south, elements of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division counted eight Communist dead after an assault on fortified positions of an enemy camp.

—In the air war over North Vietnam, U.S. planes flew 93 missions Wednesday, hitting at lines of communication, storage areas and weapons positions.

The U.S. Command announced 207 Americans were killed and 634 wounded in action last week, compared with 212 killed and 1,242 wounded in the previous week, Nov. 19-25.

Fatalities among the other allies were higher than in the previous reporting period. South Vietnam reported 286 government troops were killed. The rest listed 28 dead.

American combat losses since 1961 edged up to 15,265 killed, 95,103 wounded and 886 missing or captured. In addition, there have been 3,013 deaths from illness and other nonhostile causes. There were 27 such cases last week.
